11 Of 19 Persons Aboard Killed As Airliner Crashes In Storm

MASON CITY, Iowa, Aug. 22 (AP)—A Braniff Airlines passenger plane, caught in a blinding storm, crashed on a farm south of here today and 11 of the 19 persons aboard were killed.

The twin-engine plane was demolished but did not burn. Witnesses said it bounced 500 feet scattering debris, after first hitting the earth.

Airline Pilots Agree To End 23-Day Strike

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—American Airlines announced tonight that its pilots had agreed to end their 23-day-old strike and resume their disputed transcontinental nonstop flights without crew changes.

American said it planned to resume its services on Tuesday. Announcement of the settlement of the strike was made after a day of negotiations between the company and the AFL Airline Pilots Assn., which represents American's pilots.

The walkout began when pilots protested the scheduling of crews for more than eight hours on westbound nonstop transcontinental flights. Eastbound flights, helped by prevailing winds, made the flight within eight hours.

NMB Submitted Proposal
In announcing settlement of the strike, American Airline President C. R. Smith, said the nonstop transcontinental flights will be resumed Tuesday and that other flights on the same day will be resumed the same day.

Smith said in a statement, "It is anticipated that all of the scheduled on the system will be operating by the end of the week." The National Mediation Board had submitted a four-point proposal to both the union and the company in an effort to bring an end to the strike. Chairman Francis J. O'Neill Jr. of the board and Leverett Edwards, board member, had conferred with both sides today.

Airline Accepted Plan First
Shortly after noon today, the airline accepted the board's proposal for ending the walkout and later in the day it was accepted by the Airline Pilots Assn.

American said the mediation agreement will specify among other things:

1. That the nonstop transcontinental flights will continue to be operated;
2. That the company will not schedule pilots on flights with intermediate stops more than eight hours;
3. That the pilots will be returned to duty as their services are required for the operation of these schedules without loss of seniority and without recrimination.

Communists Ask Ike To Veto Anti-Red Bill

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Communist party announced tonight it had sent a telegram to President Eisenhower at Denver urging him to veto the congressional bill outlawing the party.

The telegram was signed by chairman William Z. Foster and other party leaders.

The Communists urged the President to hold an executive hearing of legal experts and interested parties, and offered to appear at such a hearing. They contended the measure is unconstitutional.

Bandit Robs Hotel, Wounds Milkman, Terrorizes Girls

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 22 (AP)—A husky young bandit armed with a revolver held up a hotel, critically wounded a milkman, disarmed two policemen and terrorized two girls before he was captured here early today.

The gunman, who was finally pulled from under a rooming house bed by five policemen, was identified by Acting Detective Capt. George Brower as Charles Arena, 21-year-old Atlantic City salesman. Brower said Arena held up the Senator Hotel near the boardwalk with a .32 caliber revolver at 6:15 a.m. and scooped $231 from the cash drawer.

As he sprinted away, Brower said, a milkman outside tried to grab him. Arena pumped one shot into the abdomen of the milkman, Louis Slusarski, 39, of Pleasantville, and fled towards the nearly deserted boardwalk.

Ten were killed in the crash and the 11th died shortly after arrival at a Hampton, Iowa, hospital. Six of the injured were in fair condition and two were critical.

The plane apparently struck a power line while buffeted by wind, hail and rain. It was only minutes from the Mason City airport.

The northbound plane was Flight 152, a DC3 bound from Memphis to Minneapolis, according to Braniff headquarters in Dallas.

The plane had made stops at Little Rock, Fort Smith, Ark., Muskogee and Tulsa, Okla., Joplin and Kansas City, Mo., and Des Moines and Waterloo, Iowa, prior to the crash.

No passengers boarded the plane in Des Moines but three got on at Waterloo including a transfer from Rockford, Ill., and two from Vinton, Iowa.

The plane crashed on a farm near the village of Swaledale, about 10 miles southwest of Mason City. It was reported "demolished."

Six of the survivors were brought to Mercy Hospital in Mason city and one of them, Mrs. Milton Schoenberg of Kansas City, Mo., was reported in critical condition.

Five others, all reported in fair condition, were:

Robert Reitsch, Rockford, Ill.; Don Pearson, Lincoln, Neb.; Margaret Lou Evans, Great Bend, Kas., en route to the Mayo Clinic at Rochester where she is a nurse; Fred Hoffman, Atkins, Kan.; Betty Ann Truly of Kansas City and Shreveport, La., hostel aboard the plane.

Taken to a Hampton hospital were Lyle D. Lyons, 24, La Crosse, Wis., who was reported in fair condition with a spinal injury, and a man and woman passenger whose identities were not immediately learned.

Branch offices in Dallas, Tex., said it was the first accident fatal to a passenger since 1939. Branch said Capt. W. A. Pickering was pilot of the plane and W. B. Wilde was copilot. Both were of Kansas City.

2,000 Protestants Join In Communion

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 22 (AP)—Protestant families of the world, seeking to reunite their broken households, today were called to the Lord's supper—but many could not come.

Their differing concepts kept them away.

"It was, however, an unusual, impressive occasion as a wide variety of Christian leaders—Episcopalians, Presbyterians, Baptists, Methodists, Lutherans, Congregationalists and others—shared the bread and the cup."

Approximately 2,000 Protestants, row by row, moved to the altar rail to kneel and accept the sacrament. The service, celebrated according to Methodist rites, was the first communion held in connection with the Assembly of the World Council of Churches.

It came on the sixth anniversary of the Council, born in Amsterdam on Aug. 22, 1948, to seek to seal the strength of divided Christendom.

Brower said the bandit ran into two patrolmen on the boardwalk, disarmed them and kept on running with three revolvers. Ten feet from the policemen, Brower said, Arena turned and fired once but missed.

The man then entered a rooming house near the boardwalk and charged into a room occupied by two Grafton, W. Va., girls on vacation.

The man hit one of them, Miss Gloria Squires, on the head with the butt of his gun and knocked her unconscious. Capt. Brower said.

"I'm in serious trouble," he was quoted as telling the other girl, Miss Polly Holloway.

Meanwhile, a squad of pursuing police came pounding up the stairs. Arena was dragged from under a bed and disarmed without a shot being fired.

Allied Policies Left Up In Air

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Aug. 22 (AP)—France and her five possible allies today announced failure of a bid to reshape their European army project but agreed to work for a rearmament Germany tied to the West.

The six-nation split at once left Allied policies in Europe up in the air. Among the immediate developments were these:

1. French Premier Mendes-France, whose proposals for revision of EDC were rejected, will fly to London tomorrow for a personal meeting with Prime Minister Churchill on European problems.

2. U. S. Secretary of State Dulles sent a note to Mendes-France saying the United States reserved its position on EDC if it is either changed substantially or rejected.

3. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer declared he expected quick action by Britain, France and the United States to give West Germany full sovereignty if the French National Assembly rejects EDC. But he expressed confidence Mendes-France would win ratification of EDC in the French National Assembly.

French Debate Planned
One informant said Mendes-France is more convinced than ever the EDC plan in its original form will be rejected by the French National Assembly. He planned to start debate on EDC next Saturday, but was not going to put the issue to a vote of confidence which would force his government to resign if his government rejected the source said.

The foreign ministers of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg issued a communique admitting failure in their four days of meetings but saying they had four political aims they shared for Europe.

These were listed as closer European cooperation to protect West Germany from any aggression; avoiding neutralization of Germany; continuing efforts to work for unification of Germany and some sort of German contribution to Allied defense; drafting a formula to promote the political and economic integration of the West.

Mendes-France, Adenauer Meet
Even as the foreign ministers reached the breaking point, the note from Secretary of State Dulles addressed to Mendes-France was delivered by special U. S. Ambassador David K. Bruce.

There was no immediate elaboration of Dulles' meaning that the United States had reserved its position on EDC if it is changed or rejected. But it was recalled that Dulles warned France last December that the ditching of EDC might touch off an "agonizing reappraisal" of American foreign policies in Europe.

The Big Two of this four-day conference, Mendes-France and Adenauer, met today for a frank business talk after the conference formally wound up. This was their first meeting of this nature during the talks.

Atlantic Flier Leaves Ireland For England
LIMERICK, Ireland, Aug. 22 (AP)—Thomas H. Danaher, 30-year-old Texas flier who made an announced solo Atlantic hop yesterday, flew on to England today with his light plane sporting the chalked on name "St. Brendan."

The Irish saint was the hero of a legendary Atlantic voyage in 565 A.D.

Danaher, whose plane was christened and blessed by a priest at nearby Shannon airport today, had flown there from a Newfoundland airport where he had left the impression he was going up for only an hour or so and return.

Thirteen and a half hours later his single-engine plane landed at Shannon.

U.S. To Help Evacuate 100,000 Vietnamese
DENVER, Aug. 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower's vacation headquarters announced today the United States will provide transportation for evacuation of up to 100,000 persons from Indochina's North Viet Nam, soon to come under Communist control.

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, told newsmen the aid program was approved in Washington last Wednesday at Eisenhower's meetings with his Cabinet and the National Security Council.

Hagerty noted that this government already has provided transportation for evacuation of "several thousand" refugees.

Luxury Train Leaves Rails, Killing Four

Over Score Injured In Wreck Of Santa Fe Chief Near Lomax, Ill.

LOMAX, Ill., Aug. 22 (AP)—The Chicago - to - Los Angeles Santa Fe Chief left the rails today, killing four persons and injuring more than a score.

The luxurious 13-car passenger train carried 235 passengers. All of the cars except the locomotive and mail coach were derailed and some collided with a string of refrigerator cars standing on an adjoining track.

The derailed cars were strewn criss-cross along the right of way and a ditch. The derailment occurred just east of Lomax, a town of 200 located about 10 miles east of Fort Madison, Iowa.

One car—No. 9—came to rest on its side. Most of the victims were in this car.

A hospital train was dispatched by Santa Fe officials from Chicago, with doctors and nurses aboard. But state police at the scene reported about two hours after the accident no additional help for the injured was needed.

Motorists Jam Roads
Roads in the vicinity of Lomax were jammed with motorists shortly after the derailment, hindering movement of the injured to hospitals in Fort Madison and Burlington, Iowa.

The cause of the derailment was not immediately determined. It happened at 1:50 p.m. (EST).

Airman Robert H. Humphrey of Galva, Ill., a passenger in car No. 9 told Clarence W. Moody, publisher of the Burlington Hawk - Eye Gazette, "The first thing I knew, I was standing on my head."

Another car 9 passenger, Marine Cpl. Ervin Ellis, of Washington, D.C., said, "I heard a grinding and screeching of the wheels. Then people fell every which way. The car was full of falling baggage and screaming people."

Neither Humphrey nor Ellis was injured.

Thomas Hittell of Bayonne, N.J., a passenger in car No. 7 said he believed most of the injured were cut by glass. "I saw one man with his face horribly cut," he said.

Wreck Produces Drama
One drama of the accident was the separation of a mother, Mrs. Lola Meredith of Louisville, Ky., from her two small children. Injured, she was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital in Fort Madison.

Her youngsters, Mary, 8 and Richard, 18 months, neither hurt seriously, were brought to Mercy Hospital, Burlington, by a Lomax woman.

Mary told attendants they had been en route to California to join Mrs. Meredith's husband. The little girl cried for her mother and demanded immediate release from the hospital because, she said, "I'm not sick."

Later, chided gently for allowing herself to become too excited, the child retorted: "If you knew how bad it hurt, you'd be excited too."

Swept Into Sewer, Saved
HONG KONG, Aug. 22 (AP)—Lichi Cheung, 12, disappeared into a storm sewer during a heavy rainstorm yesterday. He was swept for a half mile before being hurled into the arms of rescuers waiting at the open end in the city's harbor.

Project To Cost $34,000,000 And Provide Jobs For 1,000

Announces New Plant

Harry B. Higgins, president of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, yesterday announced the glass manufacturing concern will build a new, modern plate glass plant near Cumberland on land recently purchased in the North Branch section along the Potomac River. The plant will cost an estimated $34,000,000 and will utilize the most modern methods in plate glass manufacture. Upon completion it will employ an estimated 900 to 1,000 persons.

All Censure Charges Against McCarthy Will Be Kept Alive

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) said today a six-man committee has agreed to keep alive all 46 censure charges against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) but Sen. Carlson (R-Kan) said initial testimony will be taken on only about a half dozen counts.

Watkins said that while consideration of the accusations against McCarthy will be limited to those the committee believes are censurable if proved, "We will reserve the right to go into other charges if new evidence develops."

Carlson said in a separate interview that he expects only about half a dozen of the 46 charges leveled against McCarthy by Sens. Flanders (R-Vt.), Fulbright (D-Ark) and Morse (Ind-Ore) to get major consideration by the group unless there are unexpected developments.

Pittsburgh Plate To Start Construction Of Modern Facilities Within Month

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, after months of negotiations and preparation, announced yesterday plans to construct a huge, ultra-modern plate glass producing plant at Cumberland.

According to Harry B. Higgins, president of the Pittsburgh, Pa., concern, the Cumberland glass plant will cost an estimated $34,000,000 and will represent the largest expenditure on a single project in the company's 71-year history.

The proposed plate glass plant here is expected, upon completion, to employ about 900 to 1,000 people to staff its facilities. Meanwhile an estimated 2,500 workers will be required in construction of the plant building.

"This will be the first time in over 30 years that an entirely new and complete plate glass plant has been built at a new location, containing all the facilities necessary for the production, handling and shipment of plate glass," Higgins continued.

Optical Quality Glass To Be Produced
"The new plant will be designed embodying the very latest technological improvements. When completed it will have features not now in any plate glass plant in the world, or so far as we know, not even contemplated elsewhere," the company president added.

Improvements in manufacturing processes planned for the Cumberland plant will result in the production of the finest plate glass of precision optical quality, he said.

Designated as a defense plant, the new facilities have been granted a certificate of necessity by the Office of Defense Mobilization covering rapid amortization by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company on 85 percent of the estimated $33,756,000 cost of the new factory.

More than 600 acres of property in the Mexico Farms area along the North Branch of the Potomac River about four miles southeast of Cumberland have been purchased as the site for the plant. It will be constructed on what has been farm land to date.

Engineering surveys and designing for the huge plant is being done by Lockwood Greene, Inc., of New York City and by Pittsburgh Plate's glass division's engineering department.

Work Will Start Within Next Month
Final architectural and engineering plans have not yet been completed for the new plant but it is expected that preliminary excavating, grading and roadwork will start at the new site within the next month.

Final design of the plant, which will embody the newest type of equipment and facilities for glass making, is not expected before that time.

Officials of the plate glass company estimate it will take at least two years for construction of the new structure which is expected to be more than one-half mile long. The plant will be of the most modern design and will occupy just one floor throughout the majority of the building.

Currently Pittsburgh Plate operates plate glass manufacturing plants at Creighton and Ford City, Pa., and at Crystal City, Mo. It embodies sand, limestone and various chemicals into fabrication of hundreds of thousands of plate glass items. It is expected the Cumberland plant will get its raw materials from nearby areas.

The plate glass to be made here will be of 1/8 inch and 1/4 inch thickness.

Beall Sees More Stable Employment
Senator J. Glenn Beall, in announcing granting of a certificate of necessity for the plant Thursday, said that for many years the Cumberland area has had a serious unemployment problem. Location here of this large plant by one of the nation's leading manufacturing companies should contribute to a more stable employment situation.

All But Five States Show Rise In Personal Income
WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—Total personal income increased in all but five states last year, the Commerce Department reported today.

Top gainers were Michigan, Florida, South Dakota, Ohio, Indiana and Nevada, where individual income totals rose by 9 to 12 percent. Per capita income in these states ranged from $1,362 in South Dakota to $2,175 in Nevada.

This compared with a national personal income increase last year of 6 per cent and national per capita personal income of $1,709. Personal income before taxes in all states last year amounted to $250,577,000 compared with $236,981,000 the year before.

Per capita income exceeded the national average in 17 states and the District of Columbia in 1953. In nine states and the District of Columbia per capita was above $2,000 per year. Delaware had the highest per capita income, $2,304.

Only two states — Mississippi with $834 and Arkansas with $939 — had per capita incomes of less than $1,000 in 1953.

In three entire regions, embracing 24 states, no state had per capita income up to the national average. These were the Southeast, Southwest and Northwest, where per capita income averaged $1,139, $1,443, and $1,535, respectively.

In all other seven regions listed in the survey the average per capita income was higher than the national average.

The five states in which income last year was reported lower than the year before were, Wyoming, Nebraska, Kansas, Idaho and Iowa. Wyoming's loss was so small and a gain recorded for Arkansas was so small, that neither showed a percentage change. Thus, 42 states showed personal income gains last year of 1 per cent or more, two states showed no change and four states showed losses of 1 per cent or more.

Luxury Train Leaves Rails, Killing Four

Over Score Injured In Wreck Of Santa Fe Chief Near Lomax, Ill.

LOMAX, Ill., Aug. 22 (AP)—The Chicago - Los Angeles Santa Fe Chief left the rails today, killing four persons and injuring more than a score.

The luxurious 13-car passenger train carried 235 passengers. All of the cars except the locomotive and mail coach were derailed and some collided with a string of refrigerator cars standing on an adjoining track.

The derailed cars were strewn criss-cross along the right of way and a ditch. The derailment occurred just east of Lomax, a town of 200 located about 10 miles east of Fort Madison, Iowa.

One car—No. 9—came to rest on its side. Most of the victims were in this car.

A hospital train was dispatched by Santa Fe officials from Chicago, with doctors and nurses aboard. But state police at the scene reported about two hours after the accident no additional help for the injured was needed.

Motorists Jam Roads
Roads in the vicinity of Lomax were jammed with motorists shortly after the derailment, hindering movement of the injured to hospitals in Fort Madison and Burlington, Iowa.

The cause of the derailment was not immediately determined. It happened at 1:50 p.m. (EST).

Airman Robert H. Humphrey of Galva, Ill., a passenger in car No. 9 told Clarence W. Moody, publisher of the Burlington Hawk - Eye Gazette, "The first thing I knew, I was standing on my head."

Another car 9 passenger, Marine Cpl. Ervin Ellis, of Washington, D.C., said, "I heard a grinding and screeching of the wheels. Then people fell every which way. The car was full of falling baggage and screaming people."

Neither Humphrey nor Ellis was injured.

Thomas Hittell of Bayonne, N.J., a passenger in car No. 7 said he believed most of the injured were cut by glass. "I saw one man with his face horribly cut," he said.

Wreck Produces Drama
One drama of the accident was the separation of a mother, Mrs. Lola Meredith of Louisville, Ky., from her two small children. Injured, she was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital in Fort Madison.

Her youngsters, Mary, 8 and Richard, 18 months, neither hurt seriously, were brought to Mercy Hospital, Burlington, by a Lomax woman.

Mary told attendants they had been en route to California to join Mrs. Meredith's husband. The little girl cried for her mother and demanded immediate release from the hospital because, she said, "I'm not sick."

Later, chided gently for allowing herself to become too excited, the child retorted: "If you knew how bad it hurt, you'd be excited too."

Swept Into Sewer, Saved
HONG KONG, Aug. 22 (AP)—Lichi Cheung, 12, disappeared into a storm sewer during a heavy rainstorm yesterday. He was swept for a half mile before being hurled into the arms of rescuers waiting at the open end in the city's harbor.

The three accusers contended that McCarthy has been guilty of conduct unbecoming a senator, citing among other things some of his financial operations, his criticism of other senators and officials and his alleged defiance of a Senate Elections subcommittee.

Watkins said that while consideration of the accusations against McCarthy will be limited to those the committee believes are censurable if proved, "We will reserve the right to go into other charges if new evidence develops."

Carlson said in a separate interview that he expects only about half a dozen of the 46 charges leveled against McCarthy by Sens. Flanders (R-Vt.), Fulbright (D-Ark) and Morse (Ind-Ore) to get major consideration by the group unless there are unexpected developments.

Project To Cost $34,000,000 And Provide Jobs For 1,000

Announces New Plant

Harry B. Higgins, president of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, yesterday announced the glass manufacturing concern will build a new, modern plate glass plant near Cumberland on land recently purchased in the North Branch section along the Potomac River. The plant will cost an estimated $34,000,000 and will utilize the most modern methods in plate glass manufacture. Upon completion it will employ an estimated 900 to 1,000 persons.

All Censure Charges Against McCarthy Will Be Kept Alive

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—The three filed a total of 46 counts against the Wisconsin senator in support of a general resolution by Flanders calling for Senate censure. Several of the charges in the three lists overlapped.

Several committee members indicated they want to confine the hearings largely to personal actions by McCarthy, excluding among other things his actions and speeches on the Senate floor, where every senator's right to express his opinions is jealously guarded.

Members said also that some of the other charges will be too vague to form a basis for censure, and some appear already to have collapsed, but there was no disposition in advance of the hearings to dismiss them entirely.

Carlson told a reporter before he left Washington for a visit to Kansas it was the general understanding of the committee that none of the charges will be thrown out.

"All of them will be available and we can bring them in any time there is any testimony which may make it appear that they ought to be investigated further," he said.

Carlson didn't say so, but some other members said the effect may be to put all sides on notice that if the hearings stray beyond the field of specific charges then being heard, the committee will have wide latitude to go into other accusations any time it chooses.

French Guards Fire On Rioting Red POWs

PARIS, Aug. 22 (AP)—Forty French Union guards fired on 2,500 rioting Vietminh war prisoners protesting their return today on a Norwegian cargo vessel to the Communist-led Vietnam government, a French Press Agency dispatch from Saigon reported.

One prisoner was killed and several were wounded before the guards, outnumbered more than 60 to 1, restored order, the dispatch said.

The guards first fired into the air, but the prisoners ignored the warning and became more threatening. They brandished crudely fashioned weapons they had hidden in their packs.

Pittsburgh Plate To Start Construction Of Modern Facilities Within Month

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, after months of negotiations and preparation, announced yesterday plans to construct a huge, ultra-modern plate glass producing plant at Cumberland.

According to Harry B. Higgins, president of the Pittsburgh, Pa., concern, the Cumberland glass plant will cost an estimated $34,000,000 and will represent the largest expenditure on a single project in the company's 71-year history.

The proposed plate glass plant here is expected, upon completion, to employ about 900 to 1,000 people to staff its facilities. Meanwhile an estimated 2,500 workers will be required in construction of the plant building.

"This will be the first time in over 30 years that an entirely new and complete plate glass plant has been built at a new location, containing all the facilities necessary for the production, handling and shipment of plate glass," Higgins continued.

Optical Quality Glass To Be Produced

"The new plant will be designed embodying the very latest technological improvements. When completed it will have features not now in any plate glass plant in the world, or so far as we know, not even contemplated elsewhere," the company president added.

Improvements in manufacturing processes planned for the Cumberland plant will result in the production of the finest plate glass of precision optical quality, he said.

Designated as a defense plant, the new facilities have been granted a certificate of necessity by the Office of Defense Mobilization covering rapid amortization by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company on 85 percent of the estimated $33,756,000 cost of the new factory.

More than 600 acres of property in the Mexico Farms area along the North Branch of the Potomac River about four miles southeast of Cumberland have been purchased as the site for the plant. It will be constructed on what has been farm land to date.

Engineering surveys and designing for the huge plant is being done by Lockwood Greene, Inc., of New York City and by Pittsburgh Plate's glass division's engineering department.

Work Will Start Within Next Month

Final architectural and engineering plans have not yet been completed for the new plant but it is expected that preliminary excavating, grading and roadwork will start at the new site within the next month.

Final design of the plant, which will embody the newest type of equipment and facilities for glass making, is not expected before that time.

Officials of the plate glass company estimate it will take at least two years for construction of the new structure which is expected to be more than one-half mile long. The plant will be of the most modern design and will occupy just one floor throughout the majority of the building.

Currently Pittsburgh Plate operates plate glass manufacturing plants at Creighton and Ford City, Pa., and at Crystal City, Mo. It embodies sand, limestone and various chemicals into fabrication of hundreds of thousands of plate glass items. It is expected the Cumberland plant will get its raw materials from nearby areas.

The plate glass to be made here will be of 1/8 inch and 1/4 inch thickness.

Beall Sees More Stable Employment

Senator J. Glenn Beall, in announcing granting of a certificate of necessity for the plant Thursday, said that for many years the Cumberland area has had a serious unemployment problem. Location here of this large plant by one of the nation's leading manufacturing companies should contribute to a more stable employment situation.

All But Five States Show Rise In Personal Income

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—Total personal income increased in all but five states last year, the Commerce Department reported today.

Top gainers were Michigan, Florida, South Dakota, Ohio, Indiana and Nevada, where individual income totals rose by 9 to 12 percent. Per capita income in these states ranged from $1,362 in South Dakota to $2,175 in Nevada.

This compared with a national personal income increase last year of 6 per cent and national per capita personal income of $1,709.

Personal income before taxes in all states last year amounted to $250,577,000 compared with $256,091,000 the year before.

Per capita income exceeded the national average in 17 states and the District of Columbia in 1953. In nine states and the District of Columbia per capita was above $2,000 per year. Delaware had the highest per capita income, $2,304, 1 per cent or more.

Only two states — Mississippi with $834 and Arkansas with $939 — had per capita incomes of less than $1,000 in 1953.

In three entire regions, embracing 24 states, no state had per capita income up to the national average. These were the Southeast, Southwest and Northwest, where per capita income averaged $1,159, $1,443, and $1,535, respectively.

Appeal Is Filed In Assault Case

A young soldier who is home on furlough from his station in Washington was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail and given a suspended fine of $500 at a hearing Saturday before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick on an assault charge.

The young soldier, William Robey, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Robey, 1719 Ford Avenue, was convicted of assaulting Ronald V. Shook, 18 East Laing Avenue, at a picnic August 14 at the Fairgrounds.

Shook testified that the GI had assaulted him with a knife during an altercation and that wounds on his neck required 12 stitches during treatment at Memorial Hospital.

Attorney William L. Wilson, who represented Robey, filed an appeal to Circuit Court following the sentencing. Magistrate Dick placed bond at $1,000 for his appearance at the Circuit Court hearing.

Testimony disclosed that Robey, Shook and several other teenage youths had been involved in scraps during the afternoon of the picnic. The final clash ended with the Shook youth being treated at both the first aid center at the picnic site and later at Memorial Hospital.

The defense argued that the neck wounds incurred by Shook could have resulted during the course of the fighting from insignia worn by Robey. Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty, who handled the prosecution, discounted that claim due to the nature of the cuts.

Paw Paw Man Named President Of Church Group

Marshall Crouse, Paw Paw, of Woodrow Union Church, Saturday was elected president at the 73rd annual convention of churches of the Hampshire (W. Va.) district in First Christian Church, 312 Bedford Street, Cumberland.

Other officers are Don Spangler, Romney, vice president; C. A. Fisher, Cumberland, renamed secretary; Mrs. Hazel Loy, Augusta, treasurer; and Earl Loy, also of Augusta, reelected youth chairman.

Saturday afternoon, basic plans were discussed for the district's diamond jubilee in 1956. However, no committee was appointed.

The convocation, which began Friday afternoon, continued through Sunday for representatives of 13 congregations, most of which are located in Hampshire county. Morgan County, W. Va. and Allegany County are in the Hampshire District.

Worship and communion services began at 10:40 a. m. in the host church here and Rev. Ralph E. Valentine, Huntington, secretary of the West Virginia Christian Missionary Society, preached the sermon.

The keynote speaker, Rev. Walter E. Brown of Altoona, Pa., presided at devotions at 2:30 p. m. and Rev. Carl Johnson Jr., pastor of First Christian, delivered the sermon at evening services at 8 o'clock.

The church choir sang at devotions last night under the direction of Alfred Snyder, music director for St. Savage schools.

The host church provided meals and lodging for overnight guests during the three-day session. Rev. David Worsdell, McMechen, W. Va., former pastor of the Romney church, spoke Friday.

Price Support Rates For Corn Announced

Minimum price support rates for the 1954 Maryland corn crop have been announced by George L. Martin, Chairman of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

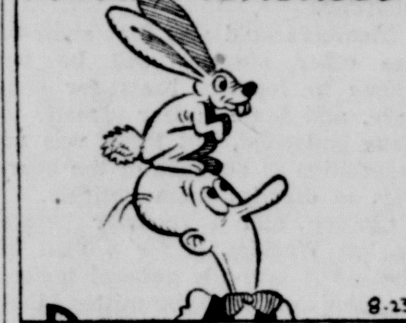

Chairman Martin explained that the rates are determined on the basis of the minimum 1954 corn support of $1.62 per bushel announced March 19. He also pointed out that two rates apply in Maryland.

One rate applies to commercial corn counties, the other to non-commercial corn counties. The minimum support rate for the State's 14 commercial counties is $1.78 per bushel and the support for the other nine counties is $1.34 per bushel. Allegany and Garrett are in the lower price classification.

City Recreation Department Planning Fall Activities

The City Recreation Department is preparing extensive plans for the fall season.

First on the agenda is the annual Western Maryland Softball Tournament to determine the area champion.

As soon as school opens, baton twirling classes will be taught on grade school, junior high and high school levels to all girls interested.

There is a strong possibility that some simple techniques in ballet dancing will be taught youngsters, and possibly some tap instruction. At the same time, touch football, will also be organized for grade school, junior high and high school boys and men.

For the benefit of those who have taken part in the new tennis program sponsored by the Recreation Department this summer, a badminton club will be formed so that these 200 odd teenagers and adults may have the opportunity to continue a net sport this fall.

A women's recreation class will again be sponsored, and their fall activities include volleyball and basketball. This group will meet once a week at Fort Hill High School girls' gymnasium. Social dancing classes are planned for teenagers this fall, along with square dance nights and square dance caller classes.

An exercise and body conditioning class will be organized for women who are uninterested in participating in active sports. The Recreation Department Civic Theatre Group will reorganize and plans call for a program of three or four dramatic productions between October and spring.

Art classes will again be made available for those who desire to learn sketching or water color painting.

The newly formed horseshoe club for men will continue its activities and new members are given a standing invitation to join.

A barbershop quartet chapter will be established, and efforts will be made to have regular meeting nights for this musical group. A senior citizen or golden age club will be formed with planned recreation for men and women of the community over 60 years of age. This is the growing trend in recreation all over the country.

Modern medicine and health standards have increased the number of older people by very large proportions and recreation departments all over the country are accepting the responsibility of giving this group wholesome recreation, as well as the other age groups.

Recreation Director Robert E. Pence observed.

While many of the above activities will carry over into the winter program, the Recreation Department also has several other activities that will not be started until the first of December. It is felt that this fall and winter program will meet the needs of the local citizenry for the coming months.

Pence pointed out that if there are any groups interested in other activities, he will be glad to discuss with them the possibility of organizing them for recreation purposes.

Other officers are Don Spangler, Romney, vice president; C. A. Fisher, Cumberland, renamed secretary; Mrs. Hazel Loy, Augusta, treasurer, and Earl Loy, also of Augusta, re-elected youth chairman.

Saturday afternoon, basic plans were discussed for the district's diamond jubilee in 1956. However, no committee was appointed.

The convocation, which began Friday afternoon, continued through Sunday for representatives of 13 congregations, most of which are located in Hampshire county, Morgan County, W. Va. and Allegany County are in the Hampshire District.

Worship and communion services began at 10:40 a. m. in the host church here and Rev. Ralph E. Valentine, Huntington, secretary of the West Virginia Christian Missionary Society, preached the sermon.

The keynote speaker, Rev. Walter E. Brown of Altoona, Pa., presided at devotions at 2:30 p. m. and Rev. Carl Johnson Jr., pastor of First Christian, delivered the sermon at evening services at 8 o'clock.

The church choir sang at devotions last night under the direction of Alfred Snyder, music director for Mt. Savage schools.

The host church provided meals and lodging for overnight guests during the three-day session. Rev. David Worsdell, McMechen, W. Va., former pastor of the Romney church, spoke Friday.

City Recreation Department Planning Fall Activities

The City Recreation Department is preparing extensive plans for the fall season.

First on the agenda is the annual Western Maryland Softball Tournament to determine the area champion.

As soon as school opens, baton twirling classes will be taught on grade school, junior high and high school levels to all girls interested.

There is a strong possibility that some simple techniques in ballet dancing will be taught youngsters, and possibly some tap instruction.

At the same time, touch football, will also be organized for grade school, junior high and high school boys and men.

For the benefit of those who have taken part in the new tennis program sponsored by the Recreation Department this summer, a badminton club will be formed so that these 200 odd teenagers and adults may have the opportunity to continue a net sport this fall.

A women's recreation class will again be sponsored, and their fall activities include volleyball and basketball. This group will meet once a week at Fort Hill High School girls' gymnasium.

Social dancing classes are planned for teen-agers this fall, along with square dance nights and square dance caller classes.

Classes at Carver High School, and movies will be incorporated into this program, not only for teenagers but for adults and younger children as well.

An exercise and body conditioning class will be organized for women who are uninterested in participating in active sports. The Recreation Department Civic Theatre Group will reorganize and plans call for a program of three or four dramatic productions between October and spring.

Art classes will again be made available for those who desire to learn sketching or water color painting.

The newly formed horseshoe club for men will continue its activities and new members are given a standing invitation to join.

A barbershop quartet chapter will be established, and efforts will be made to have regular meeting nights for this musical group.

A senior citizen or golden age club will be formed with planned recreation for men and women of the community over 60 years of age. This is the growing trend in recreation all over the country.

Modern medicine and health standards have increased the number of older people by very large proportions and recreation departments all over the country are accepting the responsibility of giving this group wholesome recreation, as well as the other age groups. Recreation Director Robert E. Pence observed.

While many of the above activities will carry over into the winter program, the Recreation Department also has several other activities that will not be started until the first of December. It is felt that this fall and winter program will meet the needs of the local citizenry for the coming months. Pence said.

Pence pointed out that if there are any groups interested in other activities, he will be glad to discuss with them the possibility of organizing them for recreation purposes.

Defection Of German Solon Poses Another Crisis For Adenauer

BONN, Germany, Aug. 22 (U.P.)—A member of the federal Parliament who deserted with his family to Communist-controlled East Germany could have done so "only with the intention of high treason," West German officials declared tonight.

The defection of Karl Franz Schmidt-Wittmack, member of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's own Christian Democratic party (CDU), posed a grave new crisis for the Adenauer regime. It came only a month after the desertion to the East of Dr. Otto John, West German security chief.

Government circles summed up the new case as "a grave blow for the West German republic."

Like John, 40-year-old Schmidt-Wittmack knew many of the Bonn government's most important secrets. Although a freshman deputy elected in the Adenauer landslide last September, he belonged to two committees handling top-secret questions—European security and all-German affairs. His desertion was first disclosed last night in an announcement by East Germany's Red government.

Schmidt-Wittmack's parliamentary committees, which meet behind locked doors, deal with plans for German rearmament, the Bonn government's undercover operations in Communist Germany and its plan for the ultimate reunification of divided Germany.

Government leaders immediately voiced fear that the treason of a second government official in a month will create a new crisis of confidence for the Adenauer regime. John's desertion July 20 shook the Adenauer government to its roots. Schmidt-Wittmack was CDU's deputy chairman in Hamburg, largest West German city.

Dr. Heinrich Krone, a member of Parliament and CDU business director, added: "This means a further setback for the policies of Chancellor Adenauer and of the West."

A high official in the federal security office conceded that "Schmidt-Wittmack without a doubt has gone to the East."

A spokesman at CDU national headquarters here said: "There is no use trying to cover up this situation. We're not going to make the same mistake we did with John."

After John's desertion, the Adenauer government came in for sizzling public criticism because it claimed for two weeks that the security director had been lured to the East by Communists, perhaps by being drugged, then John appeared at a news conference in East Berlin Aug. 11 and announced to the world that he had voluntarily defected to fight "a revival of Nazism in West Germany." His statements were refuted in the West as Communist propaganda.

U.S. Agrees To Provide Pakistan Flood Relief

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (U.P.)—The United States has agreed to extend emergency assistance to East Pakistan, where a flood drowned thousands and threatened many more with disease.

The agreement, said a State Department announcement today, will be signed here tomorrow between the United States and Pakistan governments.

The United States last week sent 17 Air Force planes into the flooded area with food, doctors, medical corpsmen and medical equipment.

New York Cops Crack Down On "Undesirables"

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (U.P.)—Police continued today to comb the city in their crackdown on "undesirables" aimed at stemming a rising tide of teen-age crimes capped by expose of a kill-for-thrill gang.

Another savage torture crime yesterday spurred officers into a stepped-up weekend dragnet which netted in Manhattan alone 326 criminals, zoot-suiters, young toughs and street corner bums.

Night court, operating into the early hours today, slapped jail sentences or fines on 252 defendants and held others for further hearings.

Charges included loitering, vagrancy, street dice and card playing, forgery, purse snatching, robbery, assault, carrying weapons, stealing from automobiles, degeneracy, prostitution, procuring, narcotics violations, numbers slips, liquor law violations, consorting with known criminals, begging, disorderly conduct, and violation of park curfews.

It was in Brooklyn parks that a quartet of alleged kill-for-thrill teen-agers operated, beating and torturing their victims—including horsewhipping two girls—in an orgy of senseless violence which includes two charges of homicide.

Despite the crackdown, police were confronted yesterday with a sadistic attack on a 65-year-old cripple, found nude, burned and beaten in his Harlem tenement flat because he refused to reveal where he kept his money.

The victim, Joseph Scarlata, retired pet shop owner who has one leg, said a Negro spent nearly eight hours beating him, burning him with cigarettes and rubbing salt into his injuries. The intruder finally left with $6.10.

And last night an 18-year-old Bronx youth escaped being shot to death by a 16-year-old boy when a .30-caliber rifle held against his abdomen failed as the trigger was pulled.

Parolee Confesses Slaying Music Teacher, Taking Car

BILOXI, Miss., Aug. 22 (U.P.)—A husky 21-year-old Kansas reformatory parolee, shaking as he recalled details, today told police how he fatally strangled and beat a Monroe, La., music teacher, then took his car for a spree on the Gulf Coast.

Police Chief Herbert McDonnell said Jay Dean Davis, Arkansas City, Kan., signed a confession to the slaying of John L. Adams, 42, Ouachita Parish (county) elementary school music supervisor. McDonnell said Davis was on parole from the Hutchinson, Kan., Reformatory on a burglary and larceny sentence.

McDonnell said Davis was picked up about 11 a.m. when Adams' stolen automobile was spotted by a police officer. He had been in the Biloxi area, staying at a beachfront hotel, since Friday.

Davis was calm and clear on any other subject, police said, but when he described his crime, he began to shake, often burying his head in his hands.

He told officers how he was picked up by Adams while hitchhiking, rode to Adams' apartment and began to drink with the music instructor.

Davis described how he tried to slip away with Adams car and a radio, was discovered and attacked him with fists, a frying pan and finally strangled him with a plastic belt.

At first Davis did not mention the belt, but when asked about it he said:

"He was still moving and trying to get up. So I went back into the bedroom, put the belt around his neck and tied a knot in it after pulling it tight."

Davis told police Adams apparently went to sleep while he (Davis) was taking a shower and Davis decided to steal the car, taking the keys and four dollars from Adams' pants.

"But I knew that four dollars wasn't enough to get much gas with," Davis statement said, "so I went in to get a radio which I had seen so that I could sell it to get more money."

"By instinct I turned around and saw him in the doorway. I didn't wait for him to say anything. I just hit with my fist and knocked him against the wall."

"He turned and started running toward the bedroom and when I saw him reaching for the telephone I hit him several times with both hands."

Crossing Crash Fatal To 5 Puzzles Traffic Safety Men

WEVERTON, Md., Aug. 22 (U.P.)—Traffic safety men who like to know the cause of accidents are up against a puzzler in the collision of a car and train here Saturday that left five dead.

Crewmen of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's train 11, a diesel-hauled passenger-express, said the car approached the crossing on a little-used country road, stopped and then pulled onto the tracks into the path of the train.

There was nothing to obstruct the driver's vision. The train blew its whistle and took all routine safety precautions, the crew said. However, it was raining.

It took a railroad crane 90 minutes to lift the diesel locomotive off the flattened car.

Dead were Mrs. John L. Bennett, about 65, wife of a Westminster road building contractor and member of one of the community's old line families. She once was named Carroll County's "Woman of the Year" in recognition of her civic and club work.

Mrs. Travis A. Meredith, 41, of Welch, W. Va., Mrs. Bennett's niece. And three of Mrs. Meredith's four sons—John 8, Donald 7, and Michael 5.

Meredith and the oldest son, about 13, were in West Virginia. Mrs. Meredith is the daughter of Mrs. James Francis Briscoe of Westminster, who survives her.

Funeral services for the women and the children will be held in Westminster Monday. Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Meredith and the children apparently were headed for the Bennetts' summer home at Potomac Shores when the accident occurred just west of the Weverton yards.

The train crew said the train was operating at normal speed, about 40 miles an hour. It had left Washington an hour earlier for St. Louis.

The locomotive dragged the car about a fifth of a mile down the tracks.

Pilot Bails Out Of His Disintegrating Plane

CHESTERTOWN, Md., Aug. 22 (U.P.)—Lt. Paul G. Shelton, 34-year-old Baltimore National Guard pilot, parachuted to safety today when his F51 Mustang "started to disintegrate" while he was returning from a search for a missing Delaware Air National Guard plane.

The World War II veteran, who has a wife and child, said: "It went into a violent spin. In fact, I'm still spinning."

He bailed out at about 8,000 feet. His plane crashed on the farm of Mrs. Donald Stam in Kent County, about three miles east of here on Route 447.

Dorsey To Take Election Battle To Court Today

BALTIMORE, Aug. 22 (U.P.)—Here at a glance is the situation in the Maryland Democratic Party's post-primary dog fight:

1. Philip H. Dorsey, who lost the nomination for attorney-general to C. Ferdinand Sybert by the skin of his teeth, will go to court tomorrow in an effort to upset the outcome in Baltimore's 4th District.

2. George P. Mahoney, who lost the nomination for governor to H. C. Byrd, hasn't said whether he will join in Dorsey's suit.

3. Mahoney awaits a decision from the Maryland Court of Appeals Tuesday on his appeal from Judge William R. Horney's refusal to throw out 255 challenged ballots in Talbot County.

4. Theodore E. DePetris Democratic member of the Baltimore Board of Election Supervisors, has asked Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins to appeal the decision which gave Dorsey access to voter registration books and authorization cards in the 4th District.

5. Hyman A. Pressman, Baltimore attorney who has been fighting Mahoney's court battles, asked Rollins to ignore the plea.

6. Rollins has said he would not appeal the decision. And in more detail: Dorsey, who topped Sybert by 8,000 popular votes but lost out in the nominating vote count 66-74, made his decision to go to court after inspecting records in the 35th precinct of the 4th District.

He got permission from the courts to look at the records, saying he was "fishing" for evidence of fraud. His effort to upset the state-wide election outcome by a charge of fraud will be the first in Maryland's history.

If he succeeds in reversing the results in the 35th-home precinct of political leader James H. (Jack) Pollack, who supported Byrd and Sybert—he would gain the district's seven unit votes.

Mahoney apparently would have nothing to lose by becoming a party to Dorsey's suit. Some of his advisers have urged him to do so.

But the Baltimore paving contractor has said he would "stand or fall" on the outcome of his court suits in Talbot and Queen Annes counties. He claimed that in both counties a large number of ballots which his attorneys challenged during recounts should have been thrown out because of improper markings.

Judge Horney refused his request in Talbot County. The Court of Appeals will begin hearing arguments on the appeal Tuesday.

Yeager Denies He Set Altitude Mark

OMAHA, Aug. 22 (U.P.)—Some Air Force pilot has set some kind of new altitude record in some kind of a test airplane—and it wasn't speed king Chuck Yeager.

The 31-year-old major denied to reporters that he was the hero of the new feat, announced to the Force Assn. here yesterday by Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott.

Yeager said that since security restrictions prevented Talbott from disclosing details, he too was unable to talk about the development.

But he said he did want to deny rumors that it had been a Yeager flight.

U.S. 'Occupying' Formosa, China Radio Declares

TOKYO, Monday, Aug. 23 (U.P.)—Red China accused the United States today of "occupying" Formosa and thus violating the Cairo and Potsdam declarations.

Peiping radio broadcast what it described as a "joint declaration of all democratic parties and people's organizations" of Red China pressing their determination to "liberate" Formosa. The propaganda radio called on the whole nation to "increase production, practice economy" and upon all military personnel to "master modern military technique" in order to "liberate Taiwan (Formosa)."

In a broadcast Sunday, Peiping radio appealed to "peaceful, fair-minded Americans" to stop "the actions of the war-hungry elements in their country."

Today's broadcast said the joint declaration on Formosa was adopted by the standing committee of the National Committee of the Chinese Peoples Political Consultative Conference after it had heard a report by Chou En-lai, Red China's premier and foreign minister.

"We solemnly proclaim to the whole world: Taiwan is China's territory. The Chinese people are determined to liberate Taiwan," the radio quoted the declaration.

"The Chinese people will under no circumstances tolerate the traitorous Chiang Kai-shek clique usurping the control of Taiwan; they will under no circumstances tolerate the occupation of Taiwan by the aggressive circles of the United States."

The declaration charged that the United States sent the U.S. 7th Fleet "to invade the Taiwan Strait and occupied the Chinese territory of Taiwan."

Slaying Of Two Mobsters Stirs Gang War Fears

CHICAGO, Aug. 22 (U.P.)—The killing of two high level members of Chicago's underworld within four days stirred apprehension today of a new gang war.

Frank (Legs) Diamond, 61-year-old intimate of the late mob lord, Al Capone, was cut down by gunfire Saturday night.

Diamond, who seldom used his family name, Maritote, had been questioned only two days earlier by police about the ambush slaying of his one-time hoodlum associate, Charles (Cherry Nose) Gioe, 53, Wednesday.

A witness to the Gioe shooting was held in protective police custody today.

Diamond and Gioe were members of a group of seven racketeers sent to federal prison in 1943 for a million-dollar shakedown of Hollywood's movie industry leaders.

Motive Remains Mystery

But Diamond, engaged in the contracting business, told detectives Thursday night he hadn't seen Gioe since being released from prison on parole in 1948. Gioe had won parole a year earlier after serving the minimum time possible under their 10-year sentence.

The killings marked a flare-up of gang tensions which had remained relatively low until recent months. But police investigators admittedly had only guesses as to the motive behind the shootings.

Chief of Detectives John T. O'Malley ordered his men to find three hoodlums known as members of "the Young Bloods"—a group he said had been trying to take over slot machine operations in the Greater Chicago area. He gave their names as Albert Frabatto, Phil (Milwaukee) Aldrice, and Marshall Caifano.

Ammunition Not Spared

Both of the assassinations were accomplished with generous use of ammunition.

Diamond was knocked down by two charges of buckshot and two pistol bullets at point blank range just after he had opened the doors of his private garage in a dark alley preparatory to putting his car away.

Gioe was killed four nights earlier by gunmen who left 12 spent shells as he was about to get into his car, parked at a curb on the near Northwest side.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP)—Police continued today to comb the city in their crackdown on "undesirables" aimed at stemming a rising tide of teen-age crimes capped by expose of a kill-for-thrill gang.

Another savage torture crime yesterday spurred officers into a stepped-up weekend dragnet which netted in Manhattan alone 326 criminals, zoot - suiters, young toughs and street corner bums.

Night court, operating into the early hours today, slapped jail sentences or fines on 252 defendants and held others for further hearings.

Charges included loitering, vagrancy, street dice and card playing, forgery, purse snatching, robbery, assault, carrying weapons, stealing from automobiles, degeneracy, prostitution, procuring, narcotics violations, numbers slips, liquor law violations, consorting with known criminals, begging, disorderly conduct, and violation of park curfews.

It was in Brooklyn parks that a quartet of alleged kill-for-thrill teen-agers operated, beating and torturing their victims—including horsewhipping two girls—in an orgy of senseless violence which included two charges of homicide.

Despite the crackdown, police were confronted yesterday with a sadistic attack on a 65-year-old cripple, found nude, burned and beaten in his Harlem tenement flat because he refused to reveal where he kept his money.

The victim, Joseph Scarlata, retired pet shop owner who has one leg, said a Negro spent nearly eight hours beating him, burning him with cigarettes and rubbing salt into his injuries. The intruder finally left with $6.10.

Last night an 18-year-old Bronx youth escaped being shot to death by a 16-year-old boy when a .30-caliber rifle held against his abdomen failed as the trigger was pulled.

Parliament Member Dies

LONDON, Aug. 22 (AP)—Ernest Thurtle, 69, Labor member of Parliament and former secretary to the Ministry of Information, died today. He was born in New York of English parents and grew up in England.

He took a railroad crane 90 minutes to lift the diesel locomotive off the flattened car.

Dead were Mrs. John L. Bennett, about 65, wife of a Westminster road building contractor and member of one of the community's old line families. She once was named Carroll County's "Woman of the Year" in recognition of her civic and club work.

Mrs. Travis A. Meredith, 41, of Welch, W. Va., Mrs. Bennett's niece.

And three of Mrs. Meredith's four sons—John 8, Donald 7, and Michael 5.

Meredith and the oldest son, about 13, were in West Virginia.

Mrs. Meredith is the daughter of Mrs. James Francis Briscoe of Westminster, who survives her.

Funeral services for the women and the children will be held in Westminster Monday.

Parolee Confesses Slaying Music Teacher, Taking Car

BILOXI, Miss., Aug. 22 (AP)—A husky 21-year-old Kansas reformatory parolee, shaking as he recalled details, today told police how he fatally strangled and beat a Monroe, La., music teacher, then took his car for a spree on the Gulf Coast.

Police Chief Herbert McDonnell said Jay Dean Davis, Arkansas City, Kan., signed a confession to the slaying of John L. Adams, 42, Ouachita Parish (county) elementary school music supervisor. McDonnell said Davis was on parole from the Hutchinson, Kan., Reformatory on a burglary and larceny sentence.

McDonnell said Davis was picked up about 11 a.m. when Adams' stolen automobile was spotted by a police officer. He had been in the Biloxi area, staying at a beach-front hotel, since Friday.

Davis was calm and clear on any other subject, police said, but when he described his crime, he began to shake, often burying his head in his hands.

He told officers how he was picked up by Adams while hitchhiking, rode to Adams' apartment and began to drink with the music instructor.

Davis described how he tried to slip away with Adams car and a radio, was discovered and attacked him with fists, a frying pan and finally strangled him with a plastic belt.

At first Davis did not mention the belt, but when asked about it he said:

"He was still moving and trying to get up. So I went back into the bedroom, put the belt around his neck and tied a knot in it after pulling it tight."

Davis told police Adams apparently went to sleep while he (Davis) was taking a shower and Davis decided to steal the car, taking the keys and four dollars from Adams' pants.

"But I knew that four dollars wasn't enough to get much gas with," Davis statement said, "so I went in to get a radio which I had seen so that I could sell it to get more money."

By instinct I turned around and saw him in the doorway. I didn't wait for him to say anything. I just hit with my fist and knocked him against the wall.

"He turned and started running toward the bedroom and when I saw him reaching for the telephone I hit him several times with both hands."

Crossing Crash Fatal To 5 Puzzles Traffic Safety Men

WEVERTON, Md., Aug. 22 (AP)—Traffic safety men who like to know the cause of accidents are up against a puzzler in the collision of a car and train here Saturday that left five dead.

Crewmen of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's train 11, a diesel-hauled passenger-express, said the car approached the crossing on a little-used country road, stopped and then pulled onto the tracks into the path of the train.

There was nothing to obstruct the driver's vision. The train blew its whistle and took all routine safety precautions, the crew said. However, it was raining.

It took a railroad crane 90 minutes to lift the diesel locomotive off the flattened car.

Dead were Mrs. John L. Bennett, about 65, wife of a Westminster road building contractor and member of one of the community's old line families. She once was named Carroll County's "Woman of the Year" in recognition of her civic and club work.

Mrs. Travis A. Meredith, 41, of Welch, W. Va., Mrs. Bennett's niece.

And three of Mrs. Meredith's four sons—John 8, Donald 7, and Michael 5.

Meredith and the oldest son, about 13, were in West Virginia.

Mrs. Meredith is the daughter of Mrs. James Francis Briscoe of Westminster, who survives her.

Funeral services for the women and the children will be held in Westminster Monday.

Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Meredith and the children apparently were headed for the Bennetts' summer home at Potomac Shores when the accident occurred just west of the Weverton yards.

The train crew said the train was operating at normal speed, about 40 miles an hour. It had left Washington an hour earlier for St. Louis.

The locomotive dragged the car about a fifth of a mile down the tracks.

Pilot Bails Out Of His Disintegrating Plane

CHESTERTOWN, Md., Aug. 22 (AP)—Lt. Paul G. Shelton, 34-year-old Baltimore National Guard pilot, parachuted to safety today when his F51 Mustang "started to disintegrate" while he was returning from a search for a missing Delaware Air National Guard plane.

The World War II veteran, who has a wife and child, said: "It went into a violent spin. In fact, I'm still spinning."

He bailed out at about 8,000 feet. His plane crashed on the farm of Mrs. Donald Stam in Kent County, about three miles east of here on Route 447.

Dorsey To Take Election Battle To Court Today

BALTIMORE, Aug. 22 (AP)—Here at a glance is the situation in the Maryland Democratic Party's post-primary dog fight:

1. Philip H. Dorsey, who lost the nomination for attorney-general to C. Ferdinand Sybert by the skin of his teeth, will go to court tomorrow in an effort to upset the outcome in Baltimore's 4th District.

2. George P. Mahoney, who lost the nomination for governor to H. C. Byrd, hasn't said whether he will join in Dorsey's suit.

3. Mahoney awaits a decision from the Maryland Court of Appeals Tuesday on his appeal from Judge William B. Horney's refusal to throw out 255 challenged ballots in Talbot County.

4. Theodore E. DePetris Democratic member of the Baltimore Board of Election Supervisors, has asked Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins to appeal the decision which gave Dorsey access to voter registration books and authorization cards in the 4th District.

5. Hyman A. Pressman, Baltimore attorney who has been fighting Mahoney's court battles, asked Rollins to ignore the plea.

6. Rollins has said he would not appeal the decision.

Dorsey, who topped Sybert by 8,000 popular votes but lost out in the nominating vote count 66-74, made his decision to go to court after inspecting records in the 35th precinct of the 4th District.

He got permission from the courts to look at the records, saying he was "fishing" for evidence of fraud. His effort to upset a state-wide election outcome by a charge of fraud will be the first in Maryland's history.

If he succeeds in reversing the results in the 35th—home precinct of political leader James H. (Jack) Pollack, who supported Byrd and Sybert—he would gain the district's seven unit votes.

Mahoney apparently would have nothing to lose by becoming a party to Dorsey's suit. Some of his advisers have urged him to do so.

But the Baltimore paving contractor has said he would "stand or fall" on the outcome of his court suits in Talbot and Queen Annes counties. He claimed that in both counties a large number of ballots which his attorneys challenged during recounts should have been thrown out because of improper markings.

Judge Horney refused his request in Talbot County. The Court of Appeals will begin hearing arguments on the appeal Tuesday.

Yeager Denies He Set Altitude Mark

OMAHA, Aug. 22 (AP)—Some Air Force pilot has set some kind of new altitude record in some kind of a test airplane—and it wasn't speed king Chuck Yeager.

The 31-year-old major denied to reporters that he was the hero of the new feat, announced to the Force Assn. here yesterday by Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott. Yeager said that since security restrictions prevented Talbott from disclosing details, he too was unable to talk about the development.

But he said he did want to deny rumors that it had been a Yeager flight.

U.S. 'Occupying' Formosa, China Radio Declares

TOKYO, Monday, Aug. 23 (AP)—Red China accused the United States today of "occupying" Formosa and thus violating the Cairo and Potsdam declarations.

Peiping radio broadcast what it described as a "joint declaration of all democratic parties and people's organizations" of Red China pressing their determination to "liberate" Formosa. The propaganda radio called on the whole nation to "increase production, practice economy" and upon all military personnel to "master modern military technique" in order to "liberate Taiwan (Formosa)."

In a broadcast Sunday, Peiping radio appealed to "peaceful, fair-minded Americans" to stop "the actions of the war-hungry elements in their country."

Today's broadcast said the joint declaration on Formosa was adopted by the standing committee of the National Committee of the Chinese Peoples Political Consultative Conference after it had heard a report by Chou En-lai, Red China's premier and foreign minister.

"We solemnly proclaim to the whole world: Taiwan is China's territory. The Chinese people are determined to liberate Taiwan," the radio quoted the declaration.

"The Chinese people will under no circumstances tolerate the traitorous Chiang Kai-shek clique usurping the control of Taiwan; they will under no circumstances tolerate the occupation of Taiwan by the aggressive circles of the United States."

The declaration charged that the United States sent the U.S. 7th Fleet "to invade the Taiwan Strait and occupied the Chinese territory of Taiwan."

Slaying Of Two Mobsters Stirs Gang War Fears

CHICAGO, Aug. 22 (AP)—The killing of two high level members of Chicago's underworld within four days stirred apprehension today of a new gang war.

Frank (Legs) Diamond, 61-year-old intimate of the late mob lord, Al Capone, was cut down by gunfire Saturday night.

Diamond, who seldom used his family name, Maritote, had been questioned only two days earlier by police about the ambush slaying of his one-time hoodlum associate, Charles (Cherry Nose) Gioe, 53, Wednesday.

A witness to the Gioe shooting was held in protective police custody today.

Diamond and Gioe were members of a group of seven racketeers sent to federal prison in 1943 for a million-dollar shakedown of Hollywood's movie industry leaders.

Motive Remains Mystery

But Diamond, engaged in the contracting business, told detectives Thursday night he hadn't seen Gioe since being released from prison on parole in 1948. Gioe had won parole a year earlier after serving the minimum time possible under their 10-year sentence.

The killings marked a flare-up of gang tensions which had remained relatively low until recent months. But police investigators admittedly had only guesses as to the motive behind the shootings.

Chief of Detectives John T. O'Malley ordered his men to find three hoodlums known as members of "the Young Bloods"—a group he said had been trying to take over slot machine operations in the Greater Chicago area. He gave their names as Albert Frabatto, Phil (Milwaukee) Aldrice, and Marshall Caifano.

Ammunition Not Spared

Both of the assassinations were accomplished with generous use of ammunition.

Diamond was knocked down by two charges of buckshot and two pistol bullets at point blank range just after he had opened the doors of his private garage in a dark alley preparatory to putting his car away.

Gioe was killed four nights earlier by gunmen who left 12 spent shells as he was about to get into his car, parked at a curb on the near Northwest side.

Plugging The Holes Of Air Defenses

Plugging the holes in the thousands of miles of air defense screen is a monumental task. The Air Force, which has been working on the project since 1949, has had to overcome all manner of obstacles. The ideal air defense screen would consist of a chain of radar stations, with their fan-shaped patterns of radar wave coverage overlapping.

Such a program is possible, of course, but it would cost many billions of dollars and the construction time required to throw the screen across the Pacific Coast, in a great arc across northern Canada, and down the Atlantic Coast, would run into years.

With what money it has available, the Air Force is doing what it can, and improvising where necessary. Construction of about 15 offshore Atlantic stations, which will be metal islands standing like long-legged storks on shoals, indicates that the race to get the nation's guard up is on in earnest.

These offshore stations, with their complicated detection and communications gear and small crews of technicians, will be part of the inner warning ring. A detection station a mere 100 miles offshore doesn't constitute "early warning" where tremendous speed of modern jet bombers is involved.

But the coast lines are vulnerable and great efforts are being made to make them secure by various means. Flying radar stations, picket ships and land-based radar stations are all part of the chain. But it is most necessary to have defense in depth, and construction of this group of offshore "islands" is at least a partial answer. The "screen" of which so much has been heard is becoming an actuality, so far as the Atlantic Coast is concerned.

An Effective Congress

The National Committee for an Effective Congress is the directing agency for the fight on Senator Joe McCarthy, but what do they mean by an "effective Congress"? The functions of Congress are determined by the Constitution of the United States. Whether a Congress is effective or not is to be measured by the quality of the work it does in passing legislation which is its main function under the Constitution.

Harry Truman, for instance, insisted that the 80th Congress was a "do nothing" Congress which is an incorrect appraisal as the record will show. It is the 80th Congress in which Senator Robert A. Taft gave full evidence of his statesmanlike capacity; it was also the Congress in which Arthur Vandenberg rose to heights of statesmanship. It passed a number of important measures in the realm of social legislation, particularly the Taft-Hartley law which is still on the statute books.

The 83rd Congress faced many difficulties, including the fact that it had no working majority in the Senate and an inadequate working majority in the House of Representatives. It also suffered from the fact that the President's legislative program was not ready for the first session and therefore valuable time was lost. Nevertheless, the 83rd Congress will close with a good record of effective legislation, of considerable debate on important subjects, and of able investigation by its committees. The lack of a working majority gave the Democrats more authority than usually goes to a minority party but it also added to minority responsibility.

One of the tasks of the American Congress is to avoid being dominated by the executive. There are Americans who prefer the British form of government in which the cabinet consists of members of Parliament, making the executive and legislative branches of government identical. The prime minister is elected as an ordinary member of Parliament and is chosen chief executive because he is the elected leader of his party. The sovereign is not a political officer.

That is not the American system and unless we adopt a constitutional amendment, it cannot become the American system, no matter who wants it. President Eisenhower was elected as President and not as a member of the House of Representatives and he has no constitutional authority over the Congress, except to veto bills as he chooses, but they can be passed over his veto. Congress may impeach the President; the President may not impeach a member of Congress. The Founding Fathers seem to have thought out all our problems.

There was a period in the Roosevelt administration when the President's popularity was so great that few dared to challenge him. He got into that habit of sending to Congress "must" legislation, some of which was passed with barely a reading. A process of unending emergencies, some essential because of the economic conditions of the country, others devised for political purposes, justified, in the public mind, what Roosevelt did.

No such emergencies have come to the aid of Eisenhower. Generally speaking, the country is prosperous and there is no universal war, although what has been euphemistically called the "cold war" is a new type of warfare in which the Soviet Universal State has been extraordinarily successful. The United States has not yet caught up with its techniques and the American people do not recognize it as warfare. That is one factor in our national confusion.

Without the aid of emergencies, the President has no alternative but to accept congressional government which is the normal American process, set by the Constitution and developed over a period of 167 years, aided by decisions of the Supreme Court. Measured by this yardstick, the second session of the 83rd Congress has been effective.

It has been representative of the conflicts of opinion and interest in the country, which is its function. Fortunately, this is not a monolithic state and the Congress is not bound by the views and programs of anyone, including the President. The Congress is bound by local and occupational constituencies who elect its members to represent them or can refuse them re-election. Among these various constituencies there is a permanent conflict of interest on domestic questions and of opinion on foreign affairs. As long as these conflicts are represented in Congress, it is effective in the public interest, and the efforts of the Committee for an Effective Congress to make it more so need not be necessary.

Policy Row Is Underway About Problem Of Formosa

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

At his press conference last week, President Eisenhower was ostentatiously casual about the Chinese Communist threat to Formosa. President Truman's guarantee of Chiang Kai-shek's islands is still in force, he said in effect, and so there is nothing to worry about.

Behind the scenes, meanwhile, the administration's policy-makers are anything but casual about the Formosa problem. In fact a rather major policy row is now going on, although as usual the grave issue at stake is being muffled from the general public.

The trouble is, very simply, that President Truman's famous guarantee of Formosa was carefully drafted to cover only the big island, and to leave out the smaller, more vulnerable off-shore islands that Chiang Kai-shek's forces still hold along the China coast. And the question now is whether to extend the guarantee to cover these islands, or to leave them exposed to capture by the Communists and take the consequences.

Quemoy, which lies only a couple of miles out of the big harbor of Amoy, is the most celebrated of these over-water possessions of the Chinese Nationalists. Largest are the Pescadores, lying in the Formosa Straits. But the most sensitive at the moment are the small rocky Tachen islands, to the north of Formosa and about 20 miles off the China coast.

Aware of Omission

Thus far, American policy has taken careful cognizance of the omission of these islands from the Truman guarantee. They are garisoned, of course, by the equivalent of about six of Chiang Kai-shek's divisions; but these six divisions have been conspicuously omitted from the 21 division American equipment and training program.

Until very recently, the official theory was that the smaller islands were none of our business. Americans interested in the Chinese Nationalist guerrilla activities were present on the Tachen chain and probably on the Pescadores as well. But they were strictly in false whiskers; and the fiction of their non-existence was carried so comically far that when they were occasionally sighted by journalist-compatrists, they always refused to speak.

Now, however, the official American theory about the off-shore islands is breaking down, as was indicated by Admiral Felix Stump's most recent visit to Tachen. The plain truth is that these islands, although they have no value as real estate, have considerable military strategic value because of their position on the approaches to Formosa. And they have even greater political strategic value because they offer the Chinese Communists another tempting way to make an easy score.

What's become of Eden's Locarno-type pact for Southeast Asia? What became of the Locarno Pact?

What was the Locarno Pact? It was signed in 1925 and guaranteed synchronized nodding on all European disputes. Time went so fast the Swiss had to put two cuckoos in every clock.

Under cover of the pact Shickelgruber worked like a rat with beaver teeth.

Fifteen years later he was off to the races with a system that couldn't lose. He grabbed the payoff window.

The meandering Mandarins of Peking are following the same pattern with wider sleeves.

The Veet Minnies are not being stopped by a chevron-de-Frise of bright colored pins on a wall map.

The ink was hardly dry on the Munich settlement at Geneva, before Chinese Foreign Minister Chou En-lai broke a long silence on the subject with a loud proclamation that Formosa must now be "liberated" at all costs. A direct attack on Formosa seems highly unlikely, partly because there are no visible Communist preparations for this kind of major enterprise, and mainly because of the American guarantee.

But an attack on off-shore islands, and especially Quemoy and Tachen, would not be a major enterprise. There is no American guarantee to worry about, at least as yet. Hence, this sort of compromise operation by the Chinese Communists cannot be ruled out in the months to come, especially

They've liberated the rice bowl and are going after the raisins.

Little gimmicks like shooting down American planes are brushed off like lint on blue serge.

Only one person is more patient than our State Department. That's a florist fanning a bud on a century plant with his hat.

Eden's Locarno's type pact resulted in Anthony getting a mock duck type apology for an attack on an English plane. Anthony has reached the stage in diplomacy where he's reading notes left in bottles for the milkman.

America rated no apologies for the killing of our citizens in the English plane. And France is back on the Champs Elysees placing a sprig of memorial parsley on the busted Arch of Triumph.

Coffee Raises Blood Pressure, Moderation Suggested

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

An editorial on minor vices in a May issue of the New England Journal of Medicine put a damper on drinking too much coffee. New data were presented on the effects of coffee on blood pressure, pulse, respiration, and electrocardiograms of 110 adults and children. In each subject the systolic pressure jumped at least 100mm. and the diastolic, 5 mm. The influence of coffee on pulse, respiration, and electrocardiogram was not as consistent.

The caffeine in coffee was clearly the culprit. Each individual was given two cups of decaffeinated and one cup of regular coffee. The first and last cups contained only traces of caffeine whereas the second was the real McCoy; changes in blood pressure occurred only after the second cup.

Results were more startling when the same tests were done on persons with kidney trouble; in seven cases of Bright's disease, blood pressure rose 30 to 50 mm. In a child with diabetes, it mounted from 100 over 60 to 210 over 100. I'm not bringing up this subject to start a new scare campaign nor to discourage coffee drinking but to encourage moderation, particularly among those with heart disease or a tendency toward high blood pressure. Our youngsters should know these facts before they become coffee hounds.

Humans have been drinking coffee since the middle of the 15th Century. During the past two decades, however, the trend toward the consumption of large amounts has increased markedly. The coffee break is becoming so prevalent, some prospective employees inquire about it before taking a new job. In some homes the coffee pot never gets cold and certain restaurants advertise the bottomless cup.

Eisenhower Displays Increasing Skill As Another Congress Comes To End

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Most important development to come out of the current session of Congress was not the legislation passed but the education of Dwight D. Eisenhower. He has now learned the techniques of being President.

Ike went into the first session of Congress more than a year ago, nervous, ill-at-ease, dubious about his job. He has come out of this session with political know-how. He now knows how Congress works, how to crack the whip, how to push a program through despite opposition.

He knows how to stay back in the general headquarters and let the lieutenants slug it out in the first line trenches. This was something Franklin Roosevelt knew how to do to perfection, but which Harry Truman never learned. Truman could never resist going into battle himself, almost seemed to relish getting his nose bloodied. He never let his cabinet members take the punishment for him, Ike does.

Some of Ike's leaders have been so battered and bruised that their political future is dubious. But the Gallup Poll shows Eisenhower's rating is still in the upper brackets. Senator Knowland has been so tough, has aroused so much resentment that he may be ditched at the next Congress. Congressman Hallock in the House cracked the whip so hard some of his Republican colleagues hate him. The President was able to stay aloof, unsullied.

Collected His Fee Late

Most important lesson Eisenhower learned was what every lawyer knows: "Collect your fee while your client's tears are hot." He failed to collect his fee in the first session of Congress last year when his popularity was at its height and his power over Congress at its peak. Instead of collecting he let Congress adjourn last summer after passing only the Refugee Immigration Bill, a curtailed military budget, and other minor legislation.

Almost the entire program was postponed until this year. That was the reason for the logjam, for the killing pace at which Congress has been working in recent weeks.

For by this time Ike knew he was up against the wall, that he had to get his program passed at this session or never. He had learned the importance of collecting your fee while your client's tears are hot.

He had also realized that history would mark him a mediocre President unless he got results this time around. To a close friend he had confided last winter: "If I had remained a military man, my record would have stood alongside that of any of our great military figures."

Then he went on to say that now, as President, he realized his place in history would not be based on his record as a military man but on his record as President. And he sounded a bit sorry that he had taken on the job — but also determined to make it a success.

That's the background behind the drive, the determination to keep Congress at it far after the scheduled time for adjournment. It's been a rough session, but it should pay political dividends in the end.

Ike's Tough Machine

Every President develops his "machine" to influence votes on Capitol Hill. But none has ever operated more efficiently, more ruthlessly than that which rammed Ike's program through Congress. Instead of one lone Capitol Hill contact man, such as Jim Barnes or Joe Feeney, used by Truman, Ike had a battery of eight. Its leaders were: Maj. Gen. "Slick" Parsons and Gerald Morgan, once paid $10,000 a month to lobby for private business.

In addition, various cabinet members backed up the battery. Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey was chief backstage wire-puller in passing the St. Lawrence Seaway; while Postmaster General Summerfield took the prize as heaviest-handed.

When Congressmen Robert Corbett and James Fulton of Pennsylvania, both Republicans, failed to support Summerfield's postage stamp increase bill, a traveling

Post Office hatchet man named Gerald Cullinan turned up in their home districts to apply the pressure on the voters back home.

Other non-conforming congressmen were hauled down to Summerfield's office. Congressman Joe Ewins of Tennessee was told to vote "right" or expect no help on a mail transportation problem in his district. And when Congressman Otto Passman of Louisiana signed a discharge petition to force the Post-1 Pay Boost Bill out of the Rules Committee over Summerfield's head, an unusual thing happened in New Orleans.

Summerfield had fired the postmaster of New Orleans, A. Frank Farley, who happened to be a good friend of Congressman Passman's. But, believe it or not, when Passman agreed to take his name off the petition to force a vote on the postal pay bill, Postmaster Farley was reinstated.

Such were the tactics used in one of the roughest, toughest sessions of Congress Washington has seen in this century. Ike got his program through and he learned the Rooseveltian technique of keeping himself aloof, but the enemies made by those rough and tumble tactics may seriously affect the coming elections.

Looking Backward

It is funny how times change. If you look back at the newspaper headlines of three years ago, they were splashing barrels of ink over the firing of General Douglas MacArthur because he had urged that Chiang Kai-shek's troops be sent to fight in Korea. When MacArthur wrote a letter to Speaker Joe Martin about this, Truman fired him. Congressmen made speeches, commentators declaimed, the presidential campaign of 1952 was highlighted with accusations that a great mistake had been made because Chiang had been kept under wraps. . . . Or if you read the headlines at the time that President-Elect Eisenhower flew to Korea, there was more talk about Chiang's troops being released later. When Ike got into the White House he withdrew the Seventh Fleet with an official announcement that Chiang's navy was now free to attack the mainland. . . . During all this time General Omar Bradley and Dean Acheson quietly argued that the chief problem was not attacking the Chinese mainland or sending Chiang's troops to Korea, but of protecting Chiang himself. . . . Today, judging from the headlines and the official statements, it looks as if they were right. . . . It always happens when you let politics get mixed up with foreign policy.

Foreign Policy

By Roger W. Babson

GLOUCESTER, Mass.—I am disturbed by the recent trend in our foreign relations. Despite the expenditure of billions of dollars abroad in military and economic aid, we have not been having much success in selling America and American ideals to other peoples.

Our foreign relief and rehabilitation programs, including the great Marshall Plan which, together with Point Four, did so much to put Western Europe back on its feet, were good ideas. They stimulated economic activity here at home and they aided countless millions of people in Europe and Asia. But they served also to antagonize some people abroad and to create mistrust.

Poor Sales Work

In other words, our government spent much time, effort, and money on a big promotional campaign that almost fizzled. Why? I think we failed because our official personnel abroad—our salesmen, if you will—did not know exactly what they were selling and did not trouble to ascertain the real needs of the foreign countries which were their "customers." That was not good diplomacy, or good politics, or good business. Although we are a mighty nation, we cannot afford such poor "sales performance."

Our foreign policy has been directed by a number of very capable men. I do not blame them for the fact that it has backfired so often in recent years. They have had hard sledding, with crisis following upon crisis. They improvised, and perhaps did the best they could. Meanwhile, the State Department has provided good berths for generous contributions to political party "war chests."

More Efficiency Needed

We need more efficiency and ability in the State Department, and particularly in the conduct of its overseas operations. Next year, Congress should give careful study to effecting improvements. It could provide for recruiting foreign service personnel by establishing scholarship training programs somewhat like the one which has worked so well for the Navy's Reserve Officer Training Corps.

An alternate measure would be the founding of a Foreign Service Academy to train men and women especially for overseas service in the diplomatic field. This new academy would be supervised carefully by the government itself. Its standards would be comparable to those of West Point or Annapolis, which have had great success in their respective fields. Money will not secure promotion in either of these institutions.

Incentives Are Lacking

While we are waiting for Congress to decide how best to recruit and train foreign service officers, something should be done about improving the morale and performance for those who now represent our interests abroad. I am told that the Foreign Service Officer Corps is at the lowest numerical strength in five years—and this at a time when world tensions are very high. Promotions among these men are too uncommon. Few incentives for doing a better job are offered to them.

Men have served in the foreign service for as long as 20 years without having passed more than two years of that service in the United States itself. Such a condition of exile is poor policy. These men cannot be effective exponents of the American way of life unless they are given frequent opportunities to come back home. How else are they to obtain really first-hand knowledge of the needs which should shape our national policy?

Let's Face Reality

We have developed a dynamic domestic economy which has met many challenges. We should also have a dynamic foreign policy. Our frontiers now lie well beyond our shores. There must be a way to attract our best men to work for our interests abroad. We must find that way if we are to preserve our own freedom and get our share of the world's raw materials, of which we stand so much in need. Our national security itself lies in the balance and depends upon more friendly allies.

I forecast that the State Department will be reorganized and operated as carefully as the Army, Navy, or Air Force departments. No one can become a recognized general or admiral by making a monetary contribution to a political party. Some day, I forecast, the State Department will cease being used to pay off political debts to large party contributors, or to help support lame-duck politicians.

Lewellyn Barn Destroyed By Fire

A large dairy barn on the Charles L. Lewellyn farm, near Greenspring, was demolished by fire Thursday night.

The Romney Fire Department responded to an alarm, and saved other nearby out-buildings.

According to Fire Chief Henry Powell, the barn was full of hay and also held about 80 bushels of newly thrashed oats. None of Lewellyn's dairy herd was in the barn.

Powell believes that spontaneous combustion in the hay loft caused the blaze. Lewellyn carried insurance on the building, but not on the contents. An estimate of the damage was not made.

Former Allegany Co. Academy Teacher Joins Faculty At Frostburg State College

Miss White Is Known For Interest, Ability In English, Drama

FROSTBURG — Miss Dorothy Stone White, teacher of Sophomore English and director of dramatics at Morgantown (W. Va.) High School, has been appointed to the faculty of Frostburg State Teachers College succeeding Mrs. Theodore Reed (the former Miss Edith Humphrey) as teacher of English and director of theater arts. Announcement of Miss White's addition to the faculty was made Friday by Miss Lillian C. Compton, president.

Known in Morgantown as "Miss Theatre", the new director of dramatics at the Frostburg college began her teaching career in Cumberland at the Allegany County Academy and was stationed there for several years prior to the closing of the famous old school.

A native of Marietta, Ohio, Miss White received her A.B. and M. A. degrees at West Virginia University after graduating from Marietta High School and attending college there for two years. While at W.V.U. she was a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority and Trinity Episcopal Church.

She has taken courses at Carnegie Tech in various phases of dramatic work and taught at Greensburg (Pa.) High School before going to Morgantown.

DOROTHY STONE WHITE

At Morgantown High Miss White was sponsor of Troop 27 of the National Thespian Society. At the National Thespian convention earlier this year she co-ordinated her delegate group with the Fort Hill Thespian delegates directed by Miss Helen Smith.

At State Teachers, she will teach two classes of freshmen English, two of English literature, and one class in theater, which includes play production and sponsorship of the thespian society.

A factor in Miss White's going to the Frostburg college is the construction of a modern theater there which will be dedicated during the coming school year and for which Miss White will produce an outstanding play.

The new faculty member has taken an apartment in Frostburg and will establish her residence on or about September 1.

Plugging The Holes Of Air Defenses

Plugging the holes in the thousands of miles of air defense screen is a monumental task. The Air Force, which has been working on the project since 1949, has had to overcome all manner of obstacles. The ideal air defense screen would consist of a chain of radar stations, with their fan-shaped patterns of radar wave coverage overlapping.

Such a program is possible, of course, but it would cost many billions of dollars and the construction time required to throw the screen across the Pacific Coast, in a great arc across northern Canada, and down the Atlantic Coast, would run into years.

With what money it has available, the Air Force is doing what it can, and improvising where necessary. Construction of about 15 offshore Atlantic stations, which will be metal islands standing like long-legged storks on shoals, indicates that the race to get the nation's guard up is on in earnest.

These offshore stations, with their complicated detection and communications gear and small crews of technicians, will be part of the inner warning ring. A detection station a mere 100 miles offshore doesn't constitute "early warning" where tremendous speed of modern jet bombers is involved.

But the coast lines are vulnerable and great efforts are being made to make them secure by various means. Flying radar stations, picket ships and land-based radar stations are all part of the chain. But it is most necessary to have defense in depth, and construction of this group of offshore "islands" is at least a partial answer. The "screen" of which so much has been heard is becoming an actuality, so far as the Atlantic Coast is concerned.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

An Effective Congress

The National Committee for an Effective Congress is the directing agency for the fight on Senator Joe McCarthy, but what do they mean by an "effective Congress"? The functions of Congress are determined by the Constitution of the United States. Whether a Congress is effective or not is to be measured by the quality of the work it does in passing legislation which is its main function under the Constitution.

Harry Truman, for instance, insisted that the 80th Congress was a "do nothing" Congress which is an incorrect appraisal as the record will show. It is the 80th Congress in which Senator Robert A. Taft gave full evidence of his statesmanlike capacity; it was also the Congress in which Arthur Vandenberg rose to heights of statesmanship. It passed a number of important measures in the realm of social legislation, particularly the Taft-Hartley law which is still on the statute books.

The 83rd Congress faced many difficulties, including the fact that it had no working majority in the Senate and an inadequate working majority in the House of Representatives. It also suffered from the fact that the President's legislative program was not ready for the first session and therefore valuable time was lost. Nevertheless, the 83rd Congress will close with a good record of effective legislation, of considerable debate on important subjects, and of able investigation by its committees. The lack of a working majority gave the Democrats more authority than usually goes to a minority party but it also added to minority responsibility.

One of the tasks of the American Congress is to avoid being dominated by the executive. There are Americans who prefer the British form of government in which the cabinet consists of members of Parliament, making the executive and legislative branches of government identical. The prime minister is elected as an ordinary member of Parliament and is chosen chief executive because he is the elected leader of his party. The sovereign is not a political officer.

That is not the American system and unless we adopt a constitutional amendment, it cannot become the American system, no matter who wants it. President Eisenhower was elected as President and not as a member of the House of Representatives and he has no constitutional authority over the Congress, except to veto bills as he chooses, but they can be passed over his veto. Congress may impeach the President; the President may not impeach a member of Congress. The Founding Fathers seem to have thought out all our problems.

There was a period in the Roosevelt administration when the President's popularity was so great that few dared to challenge him. He got into that habit of sending to Congress "must" legislation, some of which was passed with barely a reading. A process of unending emergencies, some essential because of the economic conditions of the country, others devised for political purposes, justified, in the public mind, what Roosevelt did.

No such emergencies have come to the aid of Eisenhower. Generally speaking, the country is prosperous and there is no universal war, although what has been euphemistically called the "cold war" is a new type of warfare in which the Soviet Universal State has been extraordinarily successful. The United States has not yet caught up with its techniques and the American people do not recognize it as warfare. That is one factor in our national confusion.

Without the aid of emergencies, the President has no alternative but to accept congressional government which is the normal American process, set by the Constitution and developed over a period of 167 years, aided by decisions of the Supreme Court. Measured by this yardstick, the second session of the 83rd Congress has been effective.

It has been representative of the conflicts of opinion and interest in the country, which is its function. Fortunately, this is not a monolithic state and the Congress is not bound by the views and programs of anyone, including the President. The Congress is bound by local and occupational constituencies who elect its members to represent them or can refuse them re-election. Among these various constituencies there is a permanent conflict of interest on domestic questions and of opinion on foreign affairs. As long as these conflicts are represented in Congress, it is effective in the public interest, and the efforts of the Committee for an Effective Congress to make it more so seem unnecessary.

Policy Row Is Underway About Problem Of Formosa

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON
At his press conference last week, President Eisenhower was ostentatiously casual about the Chinese Communist threat to Formosa. President Truman's guarantee of Chiang Kai-shek's islands is still in force, he said in effect, and so there is nothing to worry about.

Behind the scenes, meanwhile, the administration's policy-makers are anything but casual about the Formosa problem. In fact a rather major policy row is now going on, although as usual the grave issue at stake is being muffled from the general public.

The trouble is, very simply, that President Truman's famous guarantee of Formosa was carefully drafted to cover only the big island, and to leave out the smaller, more vulnerable off-shore islands that Chiang Kai-shek's forces still hold along the China coast. And the question now is whether to extend the guarantee to cover these islands, or to leave them exposed to capture by the Communists and take the consequences.

Quemoy, which lies only a couple of miles out of the big harbor of Amoy, is the most celebrated of these over-water possessions of the Chinese Nationalists. Largest are the Pescadores, lying in the Formosa Straits. But the most sensitive at the moment are the small rocky Tachen islands, to the north of Formosa and about 20 miles off the China coast.

Aware of Omission

Thus far, American policy has taken careful cognizance of the omission of these islands from the Truman guarantee. They are garisoned, of course, by the equivalent of about six of Chiang Kai-shek's divisions; but these six divisions have been conspicuously omitted from the 21 division American equipment and training program.

Until very recently, the official theory was that the smaller islands were none of our business, Americans interested in the Chinese Nationalist guerrilla activities were present on the Tachen chain and probably on the Pescadores as well. But they were strictly in false whiskers; and the fiction of their non-existence was carried so comically far that when they were occasionally sighted by journalist-compatriots, they always refused to speak.

Now, however, the official American theory about the off-shore islands is breaking down, as was indicated by Admiral Felix Stump's most recent visit to Tachen. The plain truth is that these islands, although they have no value as real estate, have considerable military strategic value because of their position on the approaches to Formosa. And they have even greater political strategic value because they offer the Chinese Communists another tempting way to make an easy score.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

What's become of Eden's Locarno-type pact for Southeast Asia? What became of the Locarno Pact?

What was the Locarno Pact? It was signed in 1925 and guaranteed synchronized nodding on all European disputes. Time went so fast the Swiss had to put two cuckoos in every clock.

Under cover of the pact Shickelgruber worked like a rat with beaver teeth.

Fifteen years later he was off to the races with a system that couldn't lose. He grabbed the payoff window.

The meandering Mandarins of Peking are following the same pattern with wider sleeves.

The Veet Minnies are not being stopped by a chevaux-de-Frise of bright colored pins on a wall map.

They've liberated the rice bowl and are going after the raisins.

Little gimmicks like shooting down American planes are brushed off like lint on blue serge.

Eden's Locarno type pact resulted in Anthony getting a mock duck type apology for an attack on an English plane. Anthony has reached the stage in diplomacy where he's reading notes left in bottles for the milkman.

Pentagon opinion is, therefore, that the loss of the off-shore islands would probably mean the eventual loss of Formosa proper. But as the State Department is pointing out in the current policy row, guaranteeing these islands will involve great risks. In truth, we have come a long way since the talk of "unleashing Chiang Kai-shek."

Coffee Raises Blood Pressure, Moderation Suggested

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

An editorial on minor vices in a May issue of the New England Journal of Medicine put a damper on drinking too much coffee. New data were presented on the effects of coffee on blood pressure, pulse, respiration, and electrocardiograms of 110 adults and children. In each subject the systolic pressure jumped at least 100mm. and the diastolic, 5 mm. The influence of coffee on pulse, respiration, and

electrocardiogram was not as consistent.

The caffeine in coffee was clearly the culprit. Each individual was given two cups of decaffeinated and one cup of regular coffee. The first and last cups contained only traces of caffeine whereas the second was the real McCoy; changes in blood pressure occurred only after the second cup.

Results were more startling when the same tests were done on persons with kidney trouble; in seven cases of Bright's disease, blood pressure rose 30 to 50 mm. In a child with diabetes, it mounted from 100 over 60 to 210 over 100.

I'm not bringing up this subject to start a new scare campaign nor to discourage coffee drinking but to encourage moderation, particularly among those with heart disease or a tendency toward high blood pressure. Our youngsters should know these facts before they become coffee hounds.

Humans have been drinking coffee since the middle of the 15th Century. During the past two decades, however, the trend toward the consumption of large amounts has increased markedly. The coffee break is becoming so prevalent, some prospective employees inquire about it before taking a new job. In some homes, the coffee pot never gets cold and certain restaurants advertise the bottomless cup.

Eisenhower Displays Increasing Skill As Another Congress Comes To End

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Most important development to come out of the current session of Congress was not the legislation passed but the education of Dwight D. Eisenhower. He has now learned the techniques of being President.

Ike went into the first session of Congress more than a year ago, nervous, ill-at-ease, dubious about his job. He has come out of this session with political know-how. He now knows how Congress works, how to crack the whip, how to push a program through despite opposition.

He knows how to stay back in the general headquarters and let the lieutenants slug it out in the first line trenches. This was something Franklin Roosevelt knew how to do to perfection, but which Harry Truman never learned. Truman could never resist going into battle himself, almost seemed to relish getting his nose bloodied. He never let his cabinet members take the punishment for him, Ike does.

Some of Ike's leaders have been so battered and bruised that their political future is dubious. But the Gallup Poll shows Eisenhower's rating is still in the upper brackets. Senator Knowland has been so tough, has aroused so much resentment that he may be ditched at the next Congress. Congressman Hallack in the House cracked the whip so hard some of his Republican colleagues hate him. The President was able to stay aloof, unsullied.

Collected His Fee Late

Most important lesson Eisenhower learned was what every lawyer knows: "Collect your fee while your client's tears are hot." He failed to collect his fee in the first session of Congress last year when his popularity was at its height and his power over Congress at its peak. Instead of collecting he let Congress adjourn last summer after passing only the Refugee Immigration Bill, a curtailed military budget, and other minor legislation.

Almost the entire program was postponed until this year. That was the reason for the logjam, for the killing pace at which Congress has been working in recent weeks.

For by this time Ike knew he was up against the wall, that he had to get his program passed at this session or never. He had learned the importance of collecting your fee while your client's tears are hot.

He had also realized that history would mark him a mediocre President unless he got results this time around. To a close friend he had confided last winter: "If I had remained a military man, my record would have stood alongside that of any of our great military figures."

Then he went on to say that now, as President, he realized his place in history would not be based on his record as a military man but on his record as President. And he sounded a bit sorry that he had taken on the job — but also determined to make it a success.

That's the background behind the drive, the determination to keep Congress at it far after the scheduled time for adjournment. It's been a rough session, but it should pay political dividends in the end.

Ike's Tough Machine

Every President develops his "machine" to influence votes on Capitol Hill. But none has ever operated more efficiently, more ruthlessly than that which rammed Ike's program through Congress. Instead of one lone Capitol Hill contact man, such as Jim Barnes or Joe Feeney, used by Truman, Ike had a battery of eight. His leaders were: Maj. Gen. "Slick" Parsons and Gerald Morgan, once paid $10,000 a month to lobby for private business.

In addition, various cabinet members backed up the battery. Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey was chief backstage wire-puller in passing the St. Lawrence Seaway; while Postmaster General Summerfield took the prize as heaviest-handed.

When Congressmen Robert Corbett and James Fulton of Pennsylvania, both Republicans, failed to support Summerfield's postage stamp increase bill, a traveling

Post Office hatchet man named Gerald Cullinan turned up in their home districts to apply the pressure on the voters back home.

Other non-conforming congressmen were hauled down to Summerfield's office. Congressman Joe Ewins of Tennessee was told to vote "right" or expect no help on a mail transportation problem in his district. And when Congressman Otto Passman of Louisiana signed a discharge petition to force the Post-1 Pay Boost Bill out of the Rules Committee over Summerfield's head, an unusual thing happened in New Orleans.

Summerfield had fired the postmaster of New Orleans, A. Frank Flarley, who happened to be a good friend of Congressman Passman's. But, believe it or not, when Passman agreed to take his name off the petition to force a vote on the postal pay bill, Postmaster Flarley was reinstated.

Such were the tactics used in one of the roughest, toughest sessions of Congress Washington has seen in this century. Ike got his program through and he learned the Rooseveltian technique of keeping himself aloof, but the enemies made by those rough and tumble tactics may seriously affect the coming elections.

Looking Backward

It is funny how time changes. If you look back at the newspaper headlines of three years ago, they were splashing barrels of ink over the firing of General Douglas MacArthur because he had urged that Chiang Kai-shek's troops be sent to fight in Korea. When MacArthur wrote a letter to Speaker Joe Martin about this, Truman fired him. Congressmen made speeches, commentators declaimed the presidential campaign of 1952 was highlighted with accusations that a great mistake had been made because Chiang had been kept under wraps. . . Or if you read the headlines at the time that President-Elect Eisenhower flew to Korea, there was more talk about Chiang's troops being released later. When Ike got into the White House he withdrew the Seventh Fleet with an official announcement that Chiang's navy was now free to attack the mainland. . . During all this time General Omar Bradley and Dean Acheson quietly argued that the chief problem was not attacking the Chinese mainland or sending Chiang's troops to Korea, but of protecting Chiang himself. . . Today, judging from the headlines and the official statements, it looks as if they were right. . . It always happens when you let politics get mixed up with foreign policy.

Foreign Policy

By Roger W. Babson

GLOUCESTER, Mass.—I am disturbed by the recent trend in our foreign relations. Despite the expenditure of billions of dollars abroad in military and economic aid, we have not been having much success in selling America and American ideals to other peoples.

Our foreign relief and rehabilitation programs, including the great Marshall Plan which, together with Point Four, did so much to put Western Europe back on its feet, were good ideas. They stimulated economic activity here at home and they aided countless millions of people in Europe and Asia. But they served also to antagonize some people abroad and to create mistrust.

Poor Sales Work

In other words, our government spent much time, effort, and money on a big promotional campaign that almost fizzled. Why? I think we failed because our official personnel abroad—our salesmen, if you will—did not know exactly what they were selling and did not trouble to ascertain the real needs of the foreign countries which were their "customers." That was not good diplomacy, or good politics, or good business. Although we are a mighty nation, we cannot afford such poor "sales performance."

Our foreign policy has been directed by a number of very capable men. I do not blame them for the fact that it has backfired so often in recent years. They have had hard sledding, with crisis following upon crisis. They improvised, and perhaps did the best they could. Meanwhile, the State Department has provided good berths for generous contributions to political party "war chests."

More Efficiency Needed

We need more efficiency and ability in the State Department, and particularly in the conduct of its overseas operations. Next year, Congress should give careful study to effecting improvements. It could provide for recruiting foreign service personnel by establishing scholarship training programs somewhat like the one which has worked so well for the Navy's Reserve Officer Training Corps.

An alternate measure would be the founding of a Foreign Service Academy to train men and women especially for overseas service in the diplomatic field. This new academy would be supervised carefully by the government itself. Its standards would be comparable to those of West Point or Annapolis, which have had great success in their respective fields. Money will not secure promotion in either of these institutions.

Incentives Are Lacking

While we are waiting for Congress to decide how best to recruit and train foreign service officers, something should be done about improving the morale and performance for those who now represent our interests abroad. I am told that the Foreign Service Officer Corps is at the lowest numerical strength in five years—and this at a time when world tensions are very high. Promotions among these men are too uncommon. Few incentives for doing a better job are offered to them.

Men have served in the foreign service for as long as 20 years without having passed more than two years of that service in the United States itself. Such a condition of exile is poor policy. These men cannot be effective exponents of the American way of life unless they are given frequent opportunities to come back home. How else are they to obtain really first-hand knowledge of the needs which should shape our national policy?

Let's Face Reality

We have developed a dynamic domestic economy which has met many challenges. We should also have a dynamic foreign policy. Our frontiers now lie well beyond our shores. There must be a way to attract our best men to work for our interests abroad. We must find that way if we are to preserve our own freedom and get our share of the world's raw materials, of which we stand so much in need. Our national security itself lies in the balance and depends upon more friendly allies.

I forecast that the State Department will be reorganized and operated as carefully as the Army, Navy, or Air Force departments. No one can become a recognized general or admiral by making a monetary contribution to a political party. Some day, I forecast, the State Department will cease being used to pay off political debts to large party contributors, or to help support lame-duck politicians.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 22 (INS)—Just back from Rome, Paul Nathanson, Hal Wallis casting director, tells me that Anna Magnani will be here Oct. 26 to star in "Rose Tototoo."

"Magnani is the most dynamic woman I've ever met," Tennessee Williams, the author of "Rose Tototoo" is coaching her in her lines and helping her with her English," said Nathanson.

Marissa Pavan, Pier Angeli's twin, gets the coveted role of Magnani's daughter because she looks so much like Anna.

I asked about my little friend, Anna Maria Alberghetti who had made a test. I was told Anna Maria's test is magnificent but they want her for a musical. I'm sure Anna Maria's disappointment won't be as keen when she knows that the role went to her very close friend, Marissa.

I happen to know that if Audrey

Hepburn returns to this country in time she'll have the lead in "Giant." George Stevens talked to her at length in New York. Someone saw them and overheard the conversation.

George would like Gregory Peck for the male lead in Edna Ferber's novel, but Greg is pretty tied up with Veronique Passani and may not want to leave her.

Someone asked John Huston to sum up Greg's appeal. He said, "The Americans like Peck for his striking appearance; the English for his natural charm, and the Swiss because he knows what time it is."

This certainly surprises me. Apparently Edmund Purdom is not set for the lead in "Ben Hur." Sam Zimbalist, who has had nothing but solid hits with "Mogambo," "King Solomon's Mine," "Quo Vadis" and others, says he will see any and all actors who think they can play "Ben Hur."

There are no specifications as to height, coloring or nationality. Ramon Novarro, who played the role originally, was short, dark and Latin, but according to Sam, "Ben Hur" can be any type as long as he has personality, can act, and can drive a chariot.

It's 29 years tomorrow since Rudolph Valentino died. I was at Long Beach with my daughter celebrating her birthday when a message came from New York that Rudy was critically ill. I was asked to write his "obit" in advance.

He had been a close friend of mine and I remember that I wrote my story with tears in my eyes and prayers in my heart that he would recover and my story would never see print. But within a half hour of the filing of my pre-obituary notice word came of his death.

Veteran actor James Kirkwood will deliver the eulogy at Hollywood Cemetery—and everyone is wondering if a "woman in black" will show up this year. She missed last year.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Ronald Colman won his suit for $75,000 against the people who made "Champagne for Caesar." He had last picture. That's what he had coming on a percentage cut.

Rosemary Bowe, who was Bob Stack's girl friend for some weeks, at the Sportsman's Lodge with Danny Arnold, once Joanne Gilbert's fiancé.

Director Fred De Cordova is getting around with Pasadena society Belle Lily Robert.

Elaine Stritch and Gig Young told me at Ciro's that they have no plans to marry yet although they're engaged.

Bumped into the bride and groom, Arlene Dahl and Fernando Lamas, on the dance floor. Never has there been such a crowd. If for his great reserve: the French for his natural charm, and the Swiss because he knows what time it is.

Someone asked John Huston to sum up Greg's appeal. He said, "The Americans like Peck for his striking appearance; the English for his natural charm, and the Swiss because he knows what time it is."

A most compatible and happy quartet at the baseball games is Jean Simmons, Stewart Granger, Spencer Tracy and Director Richard Brooks, all wild-eyed fans. Johnnie Ray never paid as much attention to his ex-wife, Marilyn Morrison, when he was married to her as he does now. Saw them at Ciro's and they were dancing every dance together.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Health and beauty benefit from erect posture, so don't fall into the habit of slumping.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

How many times a day do you catch yourself slumping? Not often, I hope, for you're harming both your looks and your health when you do.

Unshapely figures can so easily result from posture faults! Let the entire weight of your torso slump into your hips and you may end up with a permanently thickened middle. If you always stand pulled to full height, you're far more likely to possess a proportioned, lithe waistline.

Even more serious is the effect of poor posture on your health. It can interfere with your breathing, circulation, digestion, muscle tone, and the position of internal organs.

Such dislocations lead to the deterioration of your physical condition—and of your appearance. By habitually hunching the shoulders you crowd the lungs, and eventually you may deprive yourself of the glowing skin and sparkling eyes that go with a healthy body.

Posture Comfortable?

Need I say more to convince you that erect posture is absolutely essential? Next question: Do you feel comfortable when standing in what you consider your best posture? If you feel the least bit stiff,

your posture isn't as graceful and attractive as it might be.

Here are the elements of proper stance, by which to judge yourself. Head—chin parallel with floor and crown of head reaching for the ceiling. Neck—pull back and up. Shoulders—down and relaxed. Chest—pull up and forward. Waist—pull up out of hips. Arms—relaxed at sides, palm of hand facing in towards body. Pelvic tilt—abdomen held up and in, hips tucked under. Knees—"unlocked" and in easy extension both while standing and walking. Feet—toes pointed straight ahead.

Carry your body in this manner, and you're certain of good posture. When any part of your body slips out of line, poor posture is certain to follow.

Knees Relaxed

around the room, stiff-legged. See how your whole body stiffens? Now walk with knee joints relaxed. Don't exaggerate the bend, just take it easy. Don't you feel more comfortable? You surely look more graceful!

It will help you to flex your knees if you practice this exercise: Stand straight, hands on hips. Now squat deeply bending the knees outward as you lower your body. Up, then down again. Up and down until you really feel your knees unlock. Remember, you're doing this for posture, for appearance, and for health.

YOUR POSTURE

To achieve grace of the highest degree—to make your posture ideal—to improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes as well, read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE." For a copy, write to Secrets

Cleveland Stretches Lead To 5 1/2 Games Over Yankees

Indians Crush Lowly Orioles By Score 12-1

Defeat Baltimore 16th Straight Time;
Wynn Bags No. 17

BALTIMORE, Aug. 22 (AP)—The league-leading Cleveland Indians crushed the Baltimore Orioles 12-1 today with a 20-hit barrage behind the three-hit pitching of Early Wynn. It was the 16th straight victory for the Indians over the lowly Orioles in season's play, and Wynn's 17th victory against 9 defeats.

The Indians poured across four runs in the third inning and six in the fifth to sweep the three-game series and take their 16th victory out of their last 18 games.

With that lead, Manager Al Lopez started removing his regulars including pitcher Early Wynn, who worked seven innings.

The Indians pounded four Oriole pitchers for a score of base hits, three of them by Larry Doby in the seven innings he played. Doby came to bat twice in the fifth, doubling and singling and boosting his American League RBI lead to 102.

The Indians stretched their lead to 5 1/2 games over the New York Yankees, who dropped their third straight to the Boston Red Sox, 8-2. It was the Orioles' 12th loss in a row.

Cleveland's previous greatest margin over the Yankees was five games on June 23.

In addition to his two fifth-inning hits, Doby cracked a single in the third inning, for three hits in five at bats.

HOME GROWN COACHES

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. — Five of West Virginia University's football coaches are natives of the State. Head coach Art Lewis was born near Clifton in Mason County, backfield coaches Ed Shockey and Harold Sawyers in Martinsburg and Huntington, respectively, line coach Gene Corum in Huntington and freshman coach Barnette in Charleston. Only missing member is Russ Crane from Chicago.

Native Dancer's Retired, Colt Wins 21 Of 22 Races

Only Loss In Derby; Earnings $785,240

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 22 (INS)—Native Dancer will race no more.

The great gray champion, winner of 21 of 22 starts in his sensational career, was retired today by his owner, Alfred Vanderbilt.

Vanderbilt put the four-year-old colt through a workout at Saratoga this morning and announced later: "After working out a recurrence of his former injury was apparent. There appears no recourse than to retire him from racing."

Vanderbilt said the "gray ghost, idol of the nation's television viewers, will enter stud next spring at the Vanderbilt Farm in Sagamore, Md.

The dancer, who won a special seven furlong sprint at Saratoga last week was prepping for next Friday's mile and three quarters Saratoga Cup.

The famous son of Polynesia worked out a mile and three quarters in 2:24 3/5, but was limping on his right forefoot during his cooling off exercise.

The injury was first apparent last May 13 after Native Dancer had won the Metropolitan Handicap at Belmont Park.

Native Dancer, whose only defeat came in the 1953 Kentucky Derby when he lost to Dark Star, earned a total of $785,240 in his career. When the Colt captured the Onondaga Handicap last Monday—after a three-month layoff—he surpassed the victory mark of 20 out of 21 turned in by Man O' War.

Joe Taylor Takes West Virginia Open

WEIRTON, W. Va., Aug. 22 (AP)—Joe Taylor of Charleston won the West Virginia Open Golf Championship today with a 72-hole total of 292, even par.

Taylor finished 10 strokes ahead of his nearest competitor, state amateur champion Ed Tutwiler Jr., of Charleston, who carded a 302.

Taylor played even par with 73 for the first 18 holes of today's 36 holes at Williams Country Club and was three under par at 70 for the last 18. It was the only sub-par round of the entire tournament.

Tutwiler shot 75-73 today.

Red Sox Hand New York 3rd Defeat In Row

Ted Williams Clouts 360th Four-Bagger
As Sox Beat Byrd, 8-2

BOSTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox whipped New York's faltering Yankees for the third straight time today 8-2 as Ted Williams knocked in four runs with a homer and a double and big Frank Sullivan scattered 10 Yankee hits. The loss dropped the defending world champions 5 1/2 games behind pace-setting Cleveland, which walked Boston.

The second-place Yankees thus hit their lowest spot of the season—never having been more than five games off the pace earlier. In fact, the Yanks have been 5 1/2 games out of first place only once in the six-year reign of Manager Casey Stengel. They were that far out for just one day on May 13, 1952. Williams sent Boston into a 2-0 lead in the third with his 23rd homer after Billy Goodman singled off starter Harry Byrd. The 410-foot smash carried six rows into the right-center field seats behind the Boston bullpen.

That was the lanky slugger's 360th homer of his career and dissolved his sixth-place tie with Johnny Mize in the all-time home run derby. Williams is just one back of Joe DiMaggio, who has 361 homers.

Athletics Edge Senators, 3-2

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22 (AP)—A 12th-inning single by Joe Demaestri gave the Philadelphia Athletics a squeaky 3-2 victory over the Washington Senators in the first game of a long, unfinished double-header at Connie Mack Stadium today. The second game, tied at 4-4, was called after the ninth inning because of the Pennsylvania Sunday curfew.

Jim Finigan, who had walked and advanced to third on Bill Williams' single and a wild pitch, dashed home for the winning run when Demaestri banged out his single to left field with two out.

Small Town Philosopher

In "The World Of Mr. Sweeney," Charlie Ruggles is both terribly lovable and terribly unsponsored. This is a shame, too, because this little 15-minute job (NBC-TV 7:30 p. m. Tuesdays through Fridays) is one of the most pleasant and entertaining summer replacements on the air.

Mr. Ruggles plays the part of a small-town proprietor of a general store, full of years, wisdom and philosophy. It's hardly a new idea but it doesn't matter because the show has two great assets. One is Mr. Ruggles, a real old pro at the acting desk who knows just about every trick of the game and does not hesitate to use all of them. The other asset is Arthur Stander, who turns out the scripts and is also a real old pro at the writing game.

Between the two of them they fashion every week four complete stories of rather anecdotes about small town life which are gentle, believable and at the same time highly professional. A typical dilemma Ruggles gets involved in was the story of a local man who for years had been conducting a chess game by mail with an old rival in another town.

The rival, it appears, had beaten out the local boy on the football team, had swiped and married his girl, and now, alas, was beating him at chess. The local lad can't bear to lose again to this ancient foe so he and Ruggles cook up a telegram explaining that the local boy can't "finish the chess game today, seeing as how he died yesterday." This scheme backfires when the ancient rival shows up for the funeral and finds the man still breathing lustily. However, the old foe, it develops, has not been so successful as everyone thinks. His football prowess, while glorious at the time, has only left him with water on the knee which plagued him ever since. The girl he wooed and won has turned out to be a horror of a wife.

Hearing all this, the local lad is only too happy to lose to him at chess. That's the sort of stories they are—vignettes, really. I rather liked another one when Ruggles won the support of one of the town's socialites to the removal of a statue of her great-grandfather by persuading her (quite untruthfully) that it wasn't really a statue of her great-grandfather but a second-hand statue of a man who looked a little like him which the town had purchased at bargain rates.

Included besides Ruggles are Glenn Walker as Ruggles' young grandson and Helen Wagner as the boy's mother. Come fall when the Eddie Fisher and Dinah Shore shows return, "The World Of Mr. Sweeney" will have to depart that particular time but I hope somebody finds room for it elsewhere. It's a good, honest show. Incidentally, the show started as a one-week feature of "The Kate Smith Hour" which has spawned several ideas which grew into TV shows of their own.

Some 152 radio and television editors replied to a request for enlightenment by the Hendrickson Juvenile Delinquency Sub-committee of the Senate on the effect of crime, horror and other programs on impressionable children. In general the editors were pretty rough on the worst of the children's programs but while deploring them, the editors were flatly opposed to any sort of congressional regulation.

I agree. Children's programs are very much in need of cleaning up but I gravely doubt that Congress is the agency. Congressional regulation would be not only fundamentally unwise, leading to all sorts of other attempted regulatory measures, but practically unworkable and unworkable. The proper agency of reform in this field, as I've said before, is the networks themselves. And the proper way to do it is not by any system of codes but by setting up their own children's program departments to originate and operate all children's programs on the air.

Daily Bridge Lesson by Barclay

THROW-IN IS FANCIEST

AMONG the several possible ways to thwart a bunch of trumps held by the defender at your right, when you lack enough in the dummy to lead through them as often as you would wish, the fanciest is the throw-in play. The other two weapons available in such an emergency are the leading of some other suit from the dummy, when he has to ruff and be over-ruffed, and the causing of his partner to lead a suit which will bring that outcome. In any of these cases, however, you usually have to shorten your own trump holding by some ruffing—the Grand Coup principle.

Winning the heart K lead, West repeated the suit, the Q being ruffed in dummy, whereupon the

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 22 (INS) — Just back from Rome, Paul Nathanson, Hal Wallis casting director, tells me that Anna Magnani will be here Oct. 26 to star in "Rose Totto."

"Magnani is the most dynamic woman I've ever met. Tennessee Williams, the author of "Rose Totto" is coaching her in her lines and helping her with her English," said Nathanson.

Marissa Pavan, Pier Angeli's twin, gets the coveted role of Magnani's daughter because she looks so much like Anna.

I asked about my little friend, Anna Maria Alberghetti who had made a test. I was told Anna Maria's test is magnificent but they want her for a musical. I'm sure Anna Maria's disappointment won't be as keen when she knows that the role went to her very close friend, Marissa.

I happen to know that if Audrey

Hepburn returns to this country in time she'll have the lead in "Giant." George Stevens talked to her at length in New York. Someone saw them and overheard the conversation.

George would like Gregory Peck for the male lead in Edna Ferber's novel, but Greg is pretty tied up with Veronique Passani and may not want to leave her.

Someone asked John Huston to sum up Greg's appeal. He said, "The Americans like Peck for his striking appearance; the English for his great reserve; the French for his natural charm, and the Swiss because he knows what time it is."

This certainly surprises me. Apparently Edmund Purdom is not set for the lead in "Ben Hur." Sam Zimbalist, who has had nothing but solid hits with "Mogambo," "King Solomon's Mine," "Quo Vadis" and others, says he will see any and all actors who think they can play "Ben Hur."

There are no specifications as to height, coloring or nationality. Ramon Novarro, who played the role originally, was short, dark and Latin, but according to Sam, "Ben Hur" can be any type as long as he has personality, can act, and can drive a chariot.

It's 29 years tomorrow since Rudolph Valentino died. I was at Long Beach with my daughter celebrating her birthday when a message came from New York that Rudy was critically ill. I was asked to write his "obit" in advance.

He had been a close friend of mine and I remember that I wrote my story with tears in my eyes and prayers in my heart that he would recover and my story would never see print. But within a half hour of the filing of my pre-obituary notice word came of his death.

Veteran actor James Kirkwood will deliver the eulogy at Hollywood Cemetery—and everyone is wondering if a "woman in black" will show up this year. She missed last year.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Ronald Colman won his suit for $75,000 against the people who made "Champagne for Caesar," his last picture. That's what he had coming on a percentage cut.

Rosemary Bowe, who was Bob Stack's girl friend for some weeks, at the Sportsman's Lodge with Danny Arnold, once Joanne Gilbert's fiancé.

Director Fred De Cordova is getting around with Pasadena society Belle Lily Robert.

Elaine Stritch and Gig Young told me at Ciro's that they have no plans to marry yet although they're engaged.

Bumped into the bride and groom, Arlene Dahl and Fernando Lamas, on the dance floor. Never has there been such a crowd. If anyone doubts the popularity of Martin and Lewis this should prove it. That's why Dean went on alone when Jerry became so ill.

Ruth Waterbury and Mrs. Burt Lancaster take off for New York next Friday. Ruthie for a much needed vacation and Norma Lancaster ditto. With five children a gal needs a rest.

A most comely and happy quartet at the baseball games is Jean Simmons, Stewart Granger, Spencer Tracy and Director Richard Brooks, all wild-eyed fans.

Johnnie Ray never paid as much attention to his ex-wife, Marilyn Morrison, when he was married to her as he does now. Saw them at Ciro's and they were dancing every dance together.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Health and beauty benefit from erect posture, so don't fall into the habit of slumping.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

How many times a day do you catch yourself slumping? Not often, I hope, for you're harming both your looks and your health when you do.

Unshapely figures can so easily result from posture faults! Let the entire weight of your torso slump into your hips and you may end up with a permanently thickened middle. If you always stand pulled to full height, you're far more likely to possess a proportioned, lithe waistline.

Even more serious is the effect of poor posture on your health. It can interfere with your breathing, circulation, digestion, muscle tone and the position of internal organs.

Such dislocations lead to the deterioration of your physical condition—and of your appearance. By habitually hunching the shoulders you crowd the lungs, and eventually you may deprive yourself of the glowing skin and sparkling eyes that go with a healthy body.

Posture Comfortable?

Need I say more to convince you that erect posture is absolutely essential? Next question: Do you feel comfortable when standing in what you consider your best posture? If you feel the least bit stiff.

WIFE PRESERVERS

An excessively thin cake batter will cause the cake to boil (bubble) in the oven and produce a heavy streak on the bottom, so be sure you measure the flour according to the recipe.

your posture isn't as graceful and attractive as it might be.

Here are the elements of proper stance, by which to judge yourself. Head—chin parallel with floor and crown of head reaching for the ceiling. Neck—pull back and up. Shoulders—down and relaxed. Chest—pull up and forward. Waist—pull up out of hips. Arms—relaxed at sides, palm of hand facing in towards body. Pelvic tilt—abdomen held up and in, hips tucked under. Knees—"unlocked" and in easy extension both while standing and walking. Feet—toes pointed straight ahead.

Carry your body in this manner, and you're certain of good posture. When any part of your body slips out of line, poor posture is certain to follow.

Knees Relaxed

Keeping the knees unlocked is perhaps the hardest thing for posture students to learn. Pull your knees back hard and walk around the room, stiff-legged. See how your whole body stiffens?

Now walk with knee joints relaxed. Don't exaggerate the bend, just take it easy. Don't you feel more comfortable? You surely look more graceful!

It will help you to flex your knees if you practice this exercise: Stand straight, hands on hips. Now squat deeply bending the knees outward as you lower your body. Up, then down again. Up and down until you really feel your knees unlock. Remember, you're doing this for posture, for appearance, and for health.

YOUR POSTURE

To achieve grace of the highest degree—to make yours the posture ideal—to improve stance, figure, health and the appearance of your clothes as well, read the informative, easy-to-follow booklet "YOUR POSTURE." For a copy, write to Secrets of Charm in care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and the in coin to help cover cost.

Today's Sermonette

narrow path through which boats could sail safely. But the slightest deviation, and the ships would either smash themselves on the unyielding mass of Scylla or be whipped about and sunk in the treacherous waters of Charybdis.
Scylla and Charybdis, in time, entered the daily speech of mankind as symbols of a twofold danger. If a person veered too much to the left he would come to ruin on Scylla; if he went to the right he would meet disaster on Charybdis. We have a similar expression — "Between the devil and the deep blue sea."
In rearing a family, parents are always sailing between Scylla and Charybdis. If they are too easy on their children, the children will grow up to be shiftless and without a sense of responsibility. If they are too stern, they will break the spirit of their children.
Why is it that men and women, lads and lasses, have to find through their own sorrow that the way of the prodigal never leads to permanent happiness? Why is it that men have to butt their own heads against the rock of Scylla before they see that prodigality is a losing venture? There is always forgiveness, but there is no bringing back of wasted lives, no restoration to an earlier innocence, no way of removing the scars of folly.
Every prodigal who goes into the far country, for what he thinks will be a good time, takes with him three notions which the whole history of mankind has proved false but in which the prodigal places implicit faith.
First, he goes thinking a good life is stuffy and confining. It might be all right for those "dear hearts and gentle people who live in my home town," for the Ladies' Aid and Sunday School children, to read the Good Book and listen to preachers and hearken to the teachings of Jesus.
Second, the prodigal goes into the far country with smug notion that he is different. Nothing like what you read about in the newspapers will ever happen to him —
so he thinks.
Third, every prodigal goes into the far country with an insatiable curiosity. Up to now he has only existed. Once he hits his stride in the big city and catches on to its ways, he will really begin to live.
But for the most of us who make up a Sunday morning church crowd, the rock of prodigality is not the danger. We are more apt to be sucked into the whirlpool of pridishness. A preacher, a church member, a teacher, a good citizen
— all of us in any of these classifications can easily become prudes
and never know it.
Every prude who stays at home,
who never gets into mischief, who lives a fairly decent life, is usually the victim of one or more of the following rather common, often repulsive, and frequently deadly,
complaints:
First, the prude is proud in spirit. "I have never disobeyed
one of your commands. The prude lives by the letter of the commandments. He knows that he is good, unlike the great saints.
Second, the prude is unforgiving.
Prudes think that they do not need mercy, so why should anyone else receive it?
Third, the prude is resentful.
And so the end of the prude is worse than the beginning. Resentment eats away the very joy of living, just as acid slowly corrodes
the terminals on an automobile
battery.
In one respect the prodigals have
it over the prudes. The prudes hardly realize that they are being sucked down into the whirlpool of Charybdis, while the prodigals know that they are undone. They are ready to repent and to seek help.
It is a curious fact of religious history that the prophets have reserved their sharpest words for the prudes. John the Baptist speaks: "Woe unto you Pharisees, scribes, and hypocrites." The prudes always have so much confidence in their own goodness that only strong, shocking, language will open their eyes to their desperate straits.
The prodigals do not need to be told that they have made a mess
of things. They know it. A prodigal is a fool and knows it. A prude is a fool and does not know it.
Scylla and Charybdis—that is a twofold danger which we all have to face. At some time in our lives most of us will play both the part of a prude and the part of a prodigal. Most of us are neither prudes nor prodigals. We are a mixture of both. Sometimes we will scrape the rock of Scylla and sometimes we will fly about in the whirlpool of Charybdis. In fact, there is no guarantee that any of us will get through.
But there is more to this than Scylla and Charybdis, more than the possibility that we will dash our lives to pieces, more than the possibility that we will be twisted and tossed up on the surf to meet our doom. There is hope in this parable! Whether we be prude, prodigal, or a mixture of both,
there is a Father in heaven whom Jesus revealed who stands ready to enter our lives and empower us
so that we can do what we could never do by ourselves. With God's help any man can sail through the straits between Scylla and Charybdis.
God welcomes the repentant
prodigal! God seeks the unrepentant prude!

come, he said.
During recent weeks land has been cleared on the site of the proposed plant to allow crews to make core drillings for a possible dam which would impound the Potomac River for industrial purposes. The city of Cumberland is readying plans for laying a line to the plant to provide water for other purposes.
The city also has promised to set in motion its plans for a $2,000,000 sewage treatment plant and preliminary plans have been made by county and state officials to expedite the construction of roads to the North Branch plant site.
Potomac Edison Company and the C&A Gas Company also have given assurances that adequate supplies of electricity and gas will be made available for the plant.
Land Purchased At Cost Exceeding $200,000
Chronological events leading up to the announcement that the plant would be located here include the first statement by the firm last winter that Cumberland was one of three sites under consideration for the proposed new plate glass manufacturing plant.
Optioning of more than 600 acres of land in the North Branch area several miles southeast of Cumberland was announced last spring. The options were taken up and the land purchased at a cost in excess of $200,000.
The city of Cumberland entered into a tentative agreement to lay the water line to the plant site and to erect a sewage disposal plant. The Allegany County Board of Commissioners agreed to build an access road and overhead bridge across the B&O railroad tracks in the area.
The National Parks Service, Department of the Interior, then agreed to adjustments in its plans for a canal parkway between Cumberland and Hancock to accommodate some requirements of the glass company.

Stamford Retains

Babe Ruth Crown
WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP) — Andy Wasil, burly 15-year-old right hander, pitched Stamford, Conn., to its third straight Babe Ruth League World Series title today with a 2-0 shut out over Jackson, Tenn.
The competition is for teams of boys 13 to 15 years old.
Wasil struck out 10 batters, walked only one. Wasil was also the pitcher in Stamford's two previous Babe Ruth League titles, and before that, as a 12-year-old, led his town to the Little League championship.
Second, the prodigal goes into the far country with smug notion that he is different. Nothing like what you read about in the newspapers will ever happen to him —
so he thinks.
Third, every prodigal goes into the far country with an insatiable
curiosity. Up to now he has only existed. Once he hits his stride in the big city and catches on to its ways, he will really begin to live.
But for the most of us who make up a Sunday morning church
crowd, the rock of prodigality is not the danger. We are more apt to be sucked into the whirlpool of pridishness. A preacher, a church member, a teacher, a good citizen
— all of us in any of these classifications can easily become prudes
and never know it.
Every prude who stays at home,
who never gets into mischief, who lives a fairly decent life, is usually the victim of one or more of the following rather common, often repulsive, and frequently deadly,
complaints:
First, the prude is proud in spirit. "I have never disobeyed
one of your commands. The prude lives by the letter of the commandments. He knows that he is good, unlike the great saints.
Second, the prude is unforgiving.
Prudes think that they do not need mercy, so why should anyone else receive it?
Third, the prude is resentful.
And so the end of the prude is worse than the beginning. Resentment eats away the very joy of
living, just as acid slowly corrodes
the terminals on an automobile
battery.
In one respect the prodigals have
it over the prudes. The prudes hardly realize that they are being sucked down into the whirlpool of Charybdis, while the prodigals know that they are undone. They are ready to repent and to seek help.
It is a curious fact of religious history that the prophets have reserved their sharpest words for the prudes. John the Baptist speaks: "Woe unto you Pharisees, scribes, and hypocrites." The
prudes always have so much
confidence in their own goodness
that only strong, shocking, language will open their eyes to their desperate straits.
The prodigals do not need to be told that they have made a mess
of things. They know it. A prodigal is a fool and knows it. A prude is a fool and does not know it.
Scylla and Charybdis—that is a twofold danger which we all have to face. At some time in our lives
most of us will play both the part of a prude and the part of a prodigal. Most of us are neither prudes nor prodigals. We are a mixture of both. Sometimes we will scrape the rock of Scylla and sometimes we will fly about in the whirlpool of Charybdis. In fact,
there is no guarantee that any of
us will get through.
But there is more to this than Scylla and Charybdis, more than
the possibility that we will dash
our lives to pieces, more than the possibility that we will be twisted
and tossed up on the surf to meet our doom. There is hope in this parable! Whether we be prude, prodigal, or a mixture of both,
there is a Father in heaven whom Jesus revealed who stands ready
to enter our lives and empower us
so that we can do what we could never do by ourselves. With God's help any man can sail through the straits between Scylla and Charybdis.
God welcomes the repentant
prodigal! God seeks the unrepentant prude!

Cumberland Welcomes Its Newest Industry

Announcement finally that the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company will build a huge new plant here is the best news to greet Cumberlanders and other residents of this section in many a day.

Not only will the plant result in more work for the people of this section, but it also will provide a shot in the arm for business in general hereabouts. Moreover, it should provide an incentive for people who have been "knocking" Cumberland to about-face and exert some of their energies in boosting the city.

It behooves each of us to figuratively roll out the red carpet to greet the Pittsburgh people and to cooperate with them so that they realize their confidence in us was not misplaced.

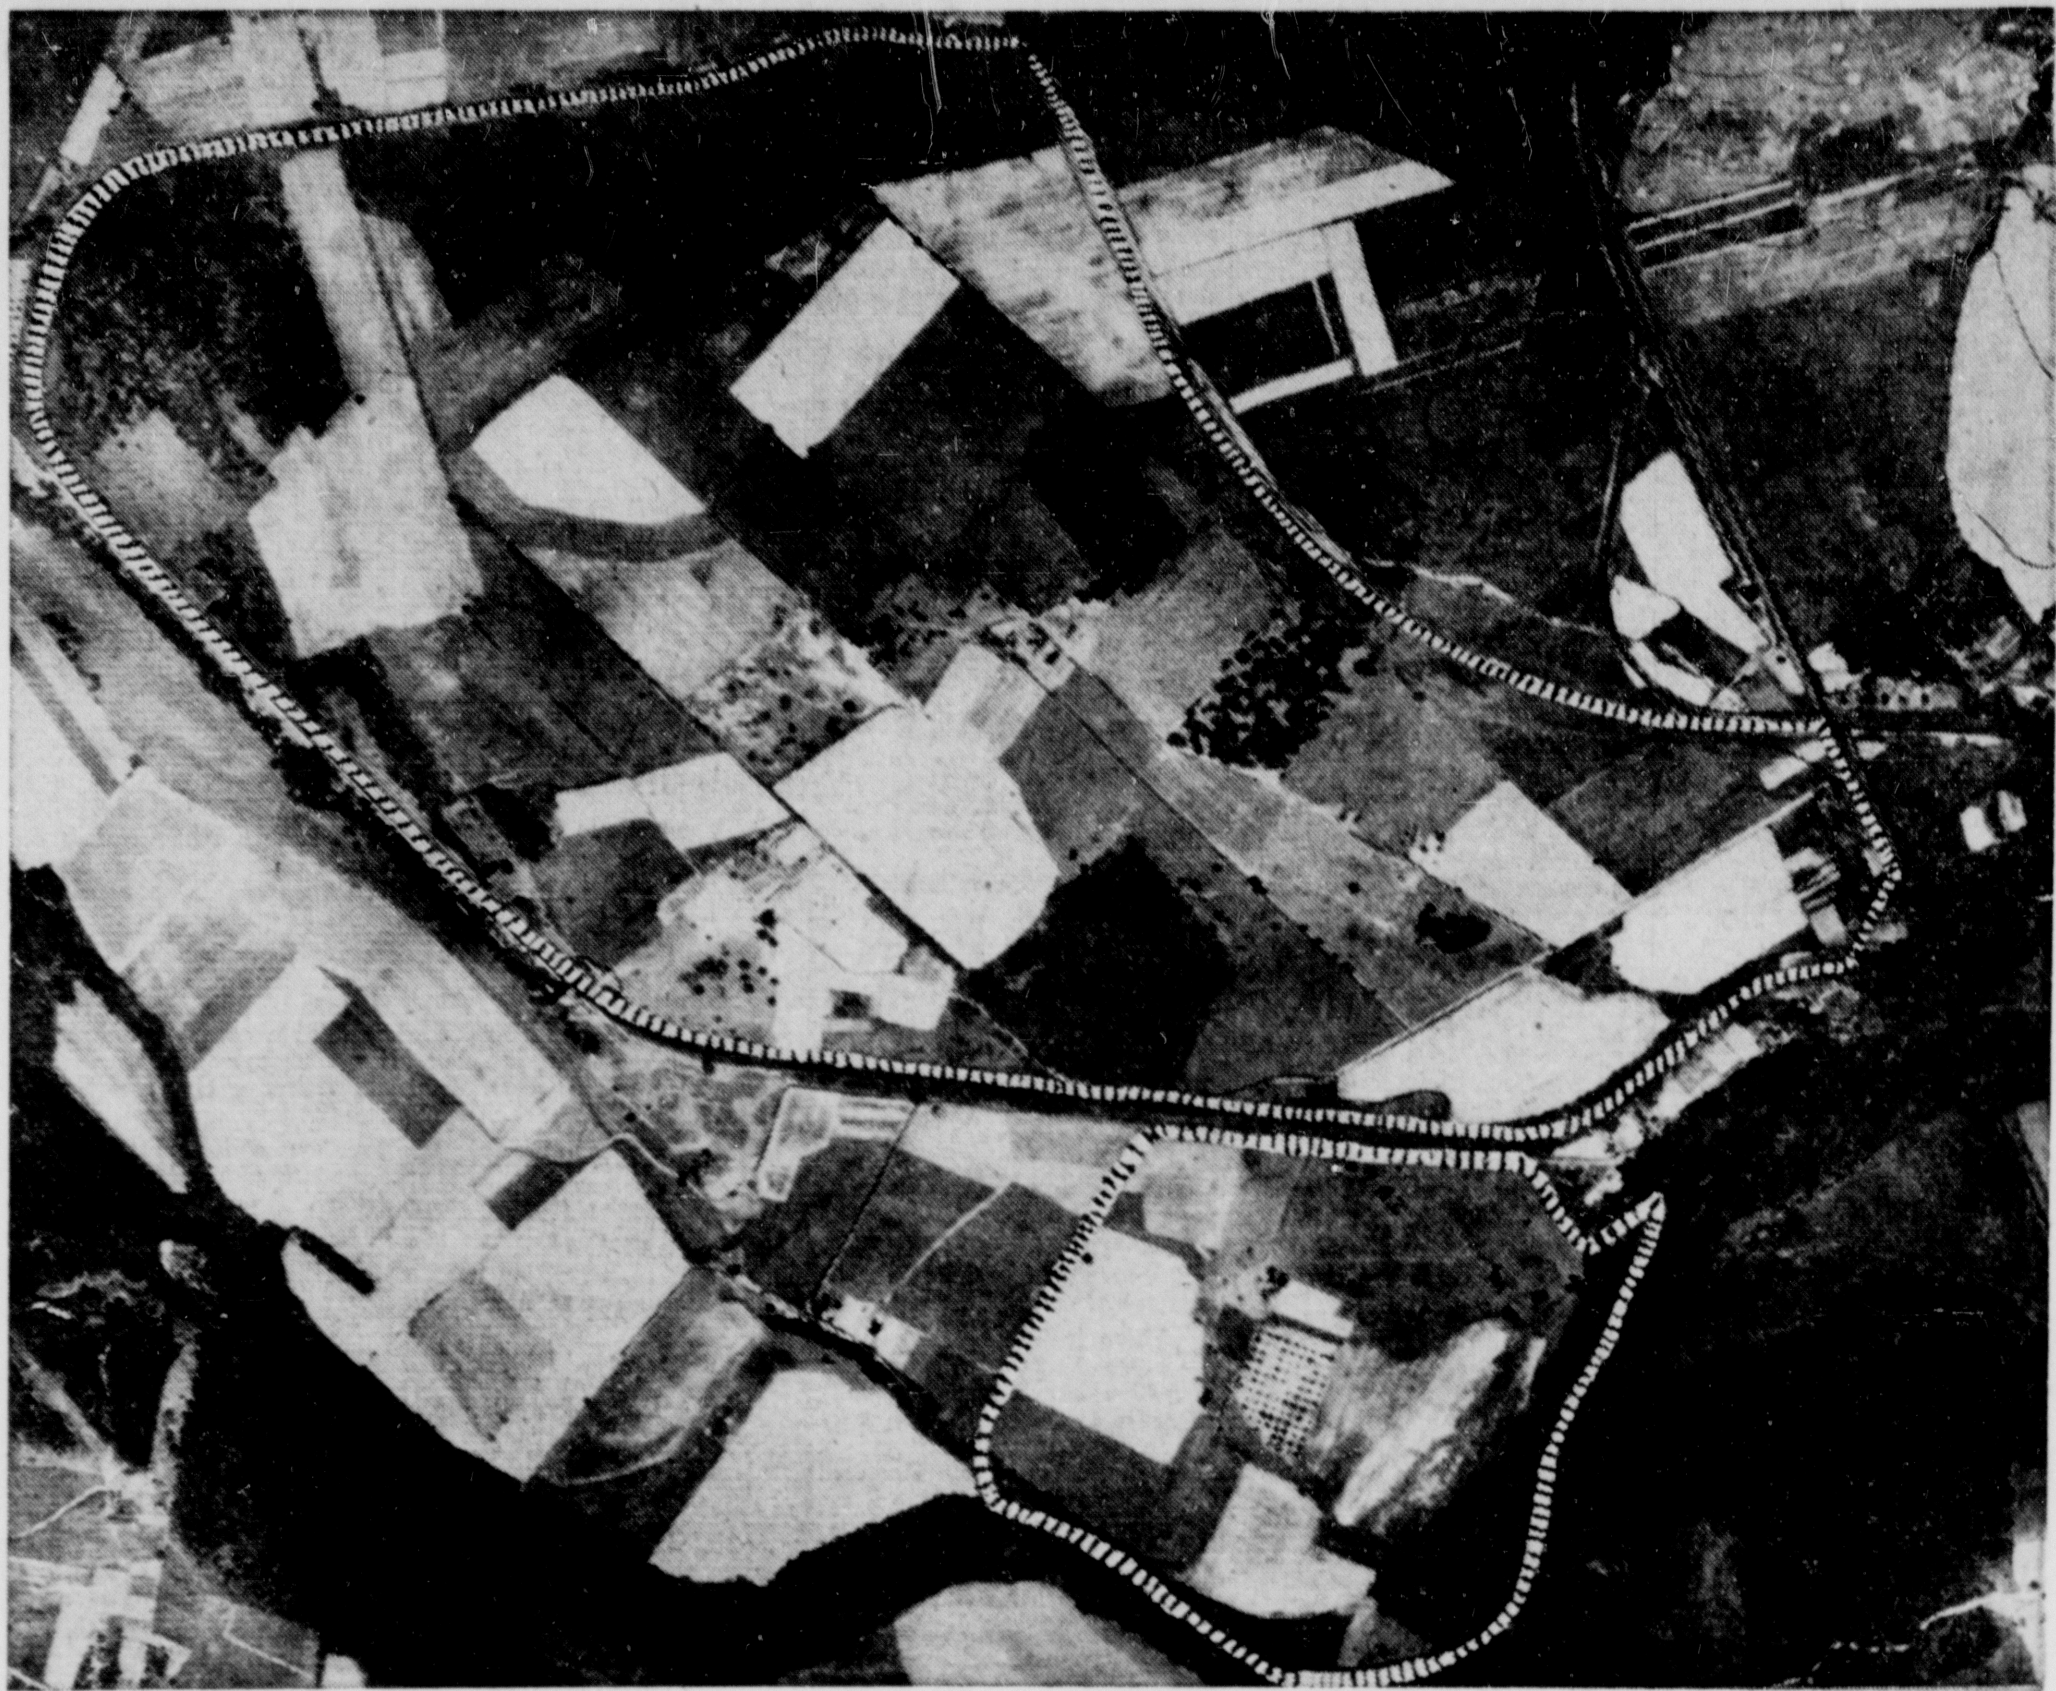

Certainly it is foolish to play ostrich and not admit that this area has been in the economic doldrums, but it also should be acknowledged that when the chips were down business people united to put up the money needed, and more besides, to set up a smoothly functioning industrial committee whose purpose it was to secure new industry for Cumberland.

Those who led the way had the full support of the rest of the citizenry in the effort to bring new industry here and the cooperative spirit engendered during that fund-raising campaign and thereafter should carry over now to welcome the Pittsburgh organization.

Virtually everybody in Cumberland had a part, large or small, in the successful negotiations to bring this new industry here, and while the effort was spearheaded by Albert H. Hargreaves, who was employed by the Cumberland Industrial Promotion Committee of the Chamber of Commerce for just that purpose and has due credit coming to him, we believe that there is enough glory attached so that everyone can share in it.

Likewise, we must understand that the Pittsburgh corporation did not decide to come to Cumberland just because we asked them. We have something they want. In reverse, Pittsburgh has something we want — a new plant and a new source of employment that will help Cumberland maintain its position as an industrial center.

Let's give Pittsburgh a wholehearted welcome and while we're about it, so that no one feels he did not get the pat on the back he deserves, let's all join together in taking the credit for it. In the final analysis, we all make up Cumberland.

Aerial View Of Plate Glass Plant Site

This aerial view shows the site where the new Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company manufacturing plant will be built. The announcement that the plant would be built at Cumberland was made yesterday by Harry B. Higgins, president of the Pittsburgh, Pa., concern. Farmland and small wooded areas make up the more than 600 acres of ground to be utilized by the new plant. The striped line outlines the bounds of land purchased by the plate glass company for the new plant. The C&O Canal runs between the two areas, following along the lower portion of the largest segment of land marked off in the aerial photograph. The North Branch of the Potomac River winds its way southeast at the bottom of the picture. To the right can be seen the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks which curve out of sight to the top as they head into Cumberland. The Western Maryland Railway tracks follow the upper portion of the largest tract of land to be occupied by the plant and cross the B&O tracks at the right. The Cumberland Municipal Airport is located to the left beyond the top portion of the photograph, which is to the northwest.

New Pittsburgh Plate Plant To Culminate 346 Years Of U.S. Glassmaking History

Construction of the world's most modern plate glass plant in Cumberland by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company will follow by 346 years the establishment of America's first industry, glass manufacturing.

An outline of the highlights of the Pittsburgh company's growth shows the original glasshouse to have been built in 1608 at Jamestown, Va. Until 1880 glass manufacture, particularly its plate glass operations, was not among the nation's more successful industries, according to the company account, which follows:

"In 1880 John Pitcairn and John Ford built and began operating a plate glass plant near Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. During the first few years it seemed that this plant, like most previous plate glass plants, was going to fail. In 1883 the company reorganized and the name was changed from the New York City Plate Glass Company to the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company. By establishing a sound financial and business policy this became America's first commercially successful plate glass producer.

The latter part of the Nineteenth Century was marked by industrial expansion and an increased demand for plate glass. As a result, the industry over-expanded and, in the Panic of 1893, many of the companies failed. Pittsburgh plate was one of those that survived.

"To further insure the stability of the Company, its officials in 1896 developed a method of distribution whereby plate glass was made available more efficiently and economically. After studying consumers' needs, they established a system of warehouses throughout the country which made it possible to get plate glass into the hands of distributors and consumers at lower cost.

"Shortly after 1900 the Company, with its distributing outlets increased to thirteen, had warehouse facilities for window glass, paint, brushes, and related items. At this time all products were distributed on a jobbing basis which did not permit the Company to exercise rigid quality control. To remedy this unsatisfactory situation the company over a period of years entered window glass, paint, and brush manufacturing activities.

"About the same time, the Company began its chemical production, carried on today by the Columbia-Southern Chemical Corporation, a wholly-owned subsidiary. The origin of Columbia-Southern dates back to 1899, at which time the only product was soda ash, essential to glass manufacturing. As a result of research and development, Columbia-Southern today produces soda ash, caustic soda, chlorine, calcium chloride, rubber pigments, and a wide range of associated and derivative chemical products.

"The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company today operates three plate glass plants, two double-glazed fabricating plants, three window glass plants, and two plants for the production of fiber glass; fifteen paint and special product plants; four brush plants; a cement plant; and a store front metal plant. Columbia-Southern operates five chemical plants and a deep coal mine. Pittsburgh Plate and Columbia-Southern employ approximately 30,000 men and women and are owned by about 15,600 shareholders.

"Today the Company has 319 plants, merchandising branches, and sales offices serving jobbers, dealers, and customers from coast to coast. Just as at the turn of the century, these units today provide for prompt and efficient service at moderate prices. In fact, the growth and development of this distribution system is in no small way responsible for the continued success of the Company. It has made possible major savings which have been passed along to the ultimate consumer.

"From the Company's research and development programs have come many of the major advances in its various manufacturing fields. The research activities, together with improvement and expansion of production and distribution facilities, have made it possible to employ more people at better jobs and to provide the nation with superior products for both military and civilian use."

Plate Glass Concern Is One Of Largest In The Nation

The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., which has announced its plans to build one of the most modern and best equipped manufacturing plants in the world in Cumberland, is one of the largest manufacturing concerns in the United States today.

The company's 1953 financial report listed assets of $441,575,599 and had net sales of $451,964,697 last year. The 71-year-old concern has enjoyed increased success with each passing decade in all its diversified divisions.

Since its founding in 1883 the company has been one of the nation's principal producers of flat glass and flat glass products including plate and window glass. It is also a principal producer of optical and ophthalmic glasses, double-glazed insulating windows and mirrors. Since 1952 with the founding of its fiber glass division it also produces several types of fiber glass.

Over 10,000 Dealers

Its glass division has seven glass plants, one window fabricating plant and one Pitco Metal plant. One fiber glass plant is located at Shelbyville, Ind. Fifteen plants producing paints, varnishes, enamels, automotive and industrial finishes, plastics, paint oils and insecticides and four plants producing paint, motor-driven industrial brushes, Neoceta synthetic bristles and brush handles are in the paints and brushes division.

A wholly-owned subsidiary of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company is the Columbia-Southern Chemical Corporation which owns five plants and one coal mine. It also has a cement plant at Portland, Ore.

The merchandising division of the company is the keystone of the concern's distributing system. It has nearly 200 branches and service centers located throughout the nation. These supply products to distributors, consumers and over 10,000 dealers. The company has operated a store in Cumberland for many years.

Research Stressed

Each company division and subsidiary maintains extensive research and product development programs. From the Pittsburgh Plate laboratories have come some of the pioneer advances made in the fields of glass, paint, plastics and brushes.

General offices of the company are located in Pittsburgh in the Grant Building and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Building. General offices of the Columbia-Southern Chemical Corporation are located in the Columbia-Southern Building in Pittsburgh.

The majority of the company's plants have operated at satisfactory levels or expanded in the past several years. Many new products were introduced and progress in the development of large, bent safety glass for automobiles and aircraft was made.

A record annual average employment of 30,956 was achieved by the company and its subsidiary, the chemical corporation. It had a total of 235 labor contracts and nine production units had perfect safety records with 10 plants being the recipients of awards for outstanding safety practices last year.

The concern has spent more than $15,000,000 in the past decade on research and product development program. It has 319 plants, merchandising branches and sales offices located in 250 cities and towns in the United States and Canada.

Some 15,639 shareholders received nearly 54 per cent of the company's earnings in the past 10 years. This amounted to approximately $155,000,000. Company employees over the same 10 years have received nearly one billion dollars in wages and benefits.

Weekend Travel Termed Light

Traffic throughout most of the Tri-State Area yesterday was termed "remarkably" light for an August Sunday, according to police, highway patrols and bus drivers.

Usually, this time of the year they point out, Sunday and weekend travel is exceptionally heavy, and traffic conditions usually crowded and congested.

Several ideas were offered as reasons. Among these are the unpredictable weather the past several days with intermittent rainfall, and rain which fell Saturday night and early Sunday morning.

It was suggested by some observers that many may be saving their money, energy, and time for the annual exodus and travel over Labor Day.

Police point out that there are three holidays each year which bring traffic to its peak. These are Memorial Day, July 4th and Labor Day. Because Labor Day always falls on Monday, travel on that holiday and the weekend around it, is always heaviest.

Yesterday in nearby Pennsylvania and West Virginia as well as Maryland, travel was steady, but in every quarter contacted, mention was made that it was much lighter than usual, and much less than is expected this time of the year.

A middle-aged woman, identified as Evelyn Magoon of Seeding Hills, Mass., was admitted to Bedford Memorial Hospital, Bedford, yesterday about noon following a mishap on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

According to Pfc. John Novich of the Pennsylvania State Police Detachment at Bedford, who investigated, the woman was driving alone along the turnpike when a vehicle in front of her started to make a turn. She applied her brakes suddenly and a car behind her struck the rear of her vehicle. Police said the mishap appeared unavoidable and no charges have been made.

Site Purchased For New Church

Property at Blue Beach, located two miles south of Springfield, W. Va. along the South Branch of the Potomac River, has been purchased by the Church of the Assumption, Keyser, for use as a Catholic church by Hampshire County residents and South Branch summer campers.

The property for many years was the site of a night spot and picnic area and was owned by Charles, Guy, and Garrett Long, of Romney.

The new church will be known as Our Lady of Grace Catholic Church and will be a mission of the Church of the Assumption, of which Rev. Kenneth Rizer is pastor. Father Rizer has been celebrating Mass for several years in Hampshire County in the auditorium of the Springfield Elementary School.

A basket picnic will be held at Blue Beach Sunday for the benefit of the new church.

City Firemen Answer Two Minor Alarms

West Side and South End firemen answered two minor alarms yesterday afternoon.

West Side was sent to Kelly Boulevard to answer a false alarm at 12:25 p. m. in the vicinity of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company. Firemen said boys pulled the box.

South End went to the home of Mrs. Mary J. Murray, 905 Virginia Avenue, at 6:21 p. m. and returned 10 minutes later. Firemen said gas leaking from a stove caught fire from the stove's pilot light but was extinguished upon arrival.

Millionth Passenger Honored By Airline

Allegheny Airlines, which provides the Cumberland area with air passenger service, carried its millionth passenger last week when Mrs. Richard Parry-Jones, Cleveland, boarded Flight 700 and flew from Cleveland to Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

For the first six months of 1954, traffic over Allegheny Airlines has increased 35 per cent over last year and the company is setting new records each month.

Car Is Damaged

Norman Pliner, 601 Washington Street, reported to City Police that his car was damaged by a hit-and-run driver as it was parked in front of his house early yesterday morning. Pliner said two automobiles were racing on Washington Street between 2 and 3 a. m. when his vehicle was struck. Considerable damage was done.

City's New Fire Truck Arrives; Tests Scheduled

A new and modern fire truck, ordered about 18 months ago, has and will undergo a number of severe tests, according to Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan.

The truck, purchased at a cost of around $15,000 will be checked this week by a representative of the fire underwriters and a written report will be presented to the Mayor and Council.

If the tests and report are satisfactory, the truck will then be accepted and paid for, Commissioner Keegan explained.

The new apparatus is to be placed in service at South End Fire Station.

Boy, 7, Struck By Automobile

A seven-year-old Ridgeley boy was struck by an automobile on Maryland Avenue shortly after 5 p. m. yesterday when he darted in front of the car as it drove south along the street.

William Crites, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ward Crites, was admitted to Memorial Hospital for observation after he was struck by the vehicle driven by William D. Smith, 403 Fayette Street. Hospital attaches said last night his condition was good and that x-rays were taken today.

Smith told City Police Officer Robert Gilpin, who investigated, that he was unable to avoid striking the boy when the lad suddenly ran out into the street. The driver took the boy to the hospital. No charges were preferred.

Clinics Scheduled By Health Department

Six clinics will be conducted this week by the Allegany County Health Department. Child health conferences will be held tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. in Cresaptown, Thursday at 10 a. m. in Frostburg, and Friday at 10 a. m. in Flintstone.

A heart clinic will be conducted tomorrow from 9 a. m. until noon at City Hall, a seizure clinic is set Wednesday at City Hall from 9 a. m. until 3 p. m., and a chest clinic will be held Friday at City Hall from 9 a. m. until noon.

Today's Sermonette

And he (the brother) was angry and would not go in; therefore came his father out, and intreated him. Luke 15:28.

Today's sermonette is a digest of the sermon preached yesterday at Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church, Frostburg, by the pastor, Rev. George L. Wehler. The sermon digests are being prepared through the cooperation of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

Prudes And Prodigals

By REV. GEORGE L. WEHLER

Scylla and Charybdis — the very mention of them struck terror into the hearts of the brave sailors of antiquity. These men sailed their tiny boats through the raging storms of the Mediterranean and brought them home safely again. They would take their chance on the open sea, for there men had a chance to fight back against the untoward elements. But in the narrow straits

Rev. Wehler

Scylla and Charybdis — What were they besides being fear-inspiring words? Scylla is a huge rock projecting out of the sea just off the toe of Italy's boot. Charybdis is a huge sucking whirlpool off shore from the island of Sicily and a few hundred yards from the rock of Scylla. Between the whirlpool and the rock was a very narrow channel.
